THE CADILLAC "V AND CREST" interpreted in Diamonds and Platinum BY CARTIER

"Elegance" is the word that expresses it!

From the wonderful Cadillac vocabulary, we have selected "elegance" as the word that most fully characterizes the Cadillac of 1960. The car's new styling is certainly elegant beyond compare. Its new interior luxury provides a feeling of elegance that can be sensed nowhere else in the world of motor cars. And even its new performance—smooth, quiet and effortless—might be summarized as "elegance in motion". We suggest that you see and drive it for yourself. Once you have, we think you will agree that the word is "elegance"—and that the car is Cadillac!

AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

If you know the woman who should have this car...

... you must admire her very much. She never tries to impress ... it isn't necessary. She never "makes an entrance," yet, somehow, people turn when she comes into a room. If she's impatient, it's only with pretension. If she's proud, it's mostly of being a woman. She's gentle, durable . . . and intensely feminine.

Her innate sense of beauty, of the rightness of things, accepts this car easily . . .

probably because it isn't overdone.

Brilliant accents, but not too many . . . dignity, but not too much to be a little rakish. Even its luxury isn't the kind that tries to overpower you.

But her womanly practicality reacts to the really important fact: This Imperial of 1960 requires and gets more handcrafting than any other American car. It takes longer to build. It is given more individual attention, both in assembly and in inspection. It will make sense to her that each Imperial we build is road-tested.

She'll be amused and delighted by the exclusive new Auto-Pilot when it holds her at a steady speed while her right foot rests (such a sense-making option).

Her understanding of style and color will give her an appreciation for the excellent fabrics of the interior . . . and an accurate gauge as to the amount of skillful tailoring that went into its making.

the exclusive

And because she knows and loves fine things, she will have an affection for this car, possibly at first meeting, certainly within the week.

If you know this remarkable woman, you'd be well advised to marry her forthwith. If you're lucky, you already have.

ANNOUNCING

The worst-kept secret in the history of Rolls-Royce and Bentley cars: A new eight cylinder aluminium engine

Remarkable new 6,230 c.c. power unit is guaranteed for three years—twelve times longer than most American cars. Accelerates brilliantly even at high speeds—but is "so well-mannered that it never joins in the conversation."

Writes John Bolster in Autosport: "The eight is appreciably faster than the six, has much greater acceleration in the upper ranges, and is so well-mannered that it never joins in the conversation. It is normal to travel with the windows closed, for one is less conscious of the grinding and clattering of other cars that one overtakes."

No guinea pigs

The Rolls-Royce engineers and designers do not use the public as guinea pigs. They test every single engine for seven hours at full throttle.

Your finished Rolls-Royce spends a week in the final test-shop, being finetuned. It is also test-driven over winding English roads by an engineer whose checklist contains 123 separate items, and then turned over to the Chief Test Driver for final testing.

When you buy a Rolls-Royce or Bentley, the running-in has already been done—by the people at Rolls-Royce. You can drive it at top speed on your first day.

A safe car

You have an extraordinary feeling of safety when driving a Rolls-Royce or Bentley. You can apply the brakes with full force even at 110 m.p.h. and the car pulls up squarely. There is no tendency to fade, or pull to one side.

The car has three independent brake systems—two hydraulic and one mechanical—as well as a mechanical hand brake.

"If it had no other great qualities," reports the Motoring Correspondent of THE OBSERVER, "the brakes of the Rolls-Royce would set it apart from cars of comparable size and performance built in any other country today."

The power-assisted steering is responsive and exact.

You can feel the road. You can adjust the shock absorbers electrically, from the driver's seat—to suit the road surface and the load you are carrying.

What is a Bentley?

Rolls-Royce has been manufacturing the Bentley since 1931. Today, the Rolls-Royce and Bentley models illustrated in this advertisement are identical motor cars—except for their radiator shells.

"The latest Bentley model," writes the Editor of AUTOCAR, "offers a degree of safety, comfort and performance that is beyond the experience and perhaps even the imagination of the majority of the world's motorists."

The Rolls-Royce and Bentley shown on the opposite page are designed to be driven by their owners—no chauffeur required. They are eighteen inches shorter than the largest American cars, and notably easy to park.

Largest Rolls-Royce ever made

There are now nine other models of

Rolls-Royce and Bentley, including convertibles and the new seven-passenger Rolls-Royce Phantom v—the largest motor car ever made by Rolls-Royce (just under twenty feet).

The lavishness of space in the PHANTOM v is likely to attract motorists who have grown weary of bending double to squeeze into low-slung automobiles. It will also appeal to Heads of State for ceremonial use, to corporations, and to large families.

Why buy a Rolls-Royce?

The price of a new Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud II is $14,895. Before you decide that this is more than you can afford to invest, consider the following arithmetic:

- 1. Annual depreciation is low and you can keep your Rolls-Royce or Bentley for years if you choose.
- 2. A Rolls-Royce never becomes out of style. You are assured of a continuity of styling that protects your investment.
- 3. Every Rolls-Royce and Bentley engine and chassis is guaranteed for three years twelve times as long as most American cars.
- 4. You can pay by installments over one, two, or three years. One bank allows six years.

If you would like more information, write Rolls-Royce, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20. If you would like to try driving a Rolls-Royce or Bentley, get in touch with the dealer listed below.

Palm Beach Yachtsmen

By SCOTLAND GRAGG

NOTHER blue-water yachting season is underway as evidenced by the arrival of several new and many familiar yachts to Palm Beach waters. Captains and crews have been busily preparing for much activity ahead, and a large number of the traditional blue owner's absence flags have been removed.

Berthed again this season at Australian Avenue Dock is the handsome 100-foot "Curlew III" owned by Mr. D. C. Ellwood of Houston, Tex. During the Summer Mr. Ellwood sailed along the New England and Maine coasts in his Burger-built ketch.

The Bruce Dodsons have boarded their Trumpy houseboat in its seasonal slip at Australian Dock after spending the Summer at their Kansas City, Mo., home. The Dodsons plan extensive cruising up and down the Palm Beach-Key Largo waterway where they will do bone and bottom fishing.

The very modern 75-foot Trumpy cruiser "Beatrice" owned by Mr. Jack Meyerhoff of Baltimore, Md., is a new addition to the seasonal fleet at the Australian Dock. Mr. and Mrs. Meyerhoff boarded their new boat, launched since the middle of October, shortly before the holidays.

Mrs. Joseph Lauder has acquired a 50-foot cruiser, the "Estee Lauder," in which she and Mr. Lauder sailed to Nassau during the holidays. The boat is berthed at the Biltmore Hotel Dock.

Also berthed at the Biltmore Dock again for the season is the 108-foot "Joho-So IV" owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Mellon of Clawson, Mich., who are now living aboard.

The John Stetsons plan a January trip to the Bahamas in their "Kona-Lani" which translated means "Southern Heaven." In a neighboring slip at the Everglades Avenue Dock is Mr. Paul Ilyinsky's "Scamp."

"Half Pint" owned by Mr. P. A. B. Widener III will be docked again at the Sailfish Club. Mr. Widener's 56-foot "Matusa Time" is berthed at the Rybovich Boat Yard. Mr. and Mrs. Widener attended the annual Tuna Tournament at Cat Cay in the Spring on their wedding trip.

Also at the Sailfish Club Dock is the familiar 48-foot Correct Craft "Altogether" owned by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gellatly of Philadelphia. The Gellatlys, who fished during the Summer in the waters off Cat Cay and the Keys, plan to divide their sailing time this season between Key Largo and Cat Cay.

The R. F. Raidles of Palm Beach have completed several successful fishing trips in local waters in their "Doris C" berthed at the Biltmore Hotel Dock.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Pratt, whose home is "Little England" in Gloucester County, Va., are aboard their 55-foot houseboat, "Treasure." The Pratts were accompanied by Mrs. Josephine Schaefer of New York City when they arrived in late November. The "Treasure" is berthed at the Brazilian Avenue Dock.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Brown Jr., of Hinsdale, Ill., new owners of the Surfside Hotel, are living aboard their sleek "Frederica II," also berthed at the Brazilian Dock. The Browns specialize in bone fishing. The 56-foot Alan Manas "Explorer," a Dutch-built Feadship is berthed for the season at the Biltmore Hotel Dock. The "Explorer" made a successful holiday cruise to Nassau.

December visitors at the Brazilian Avenue Dock were Mr. and Mrs. Addison Vars of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mt. Bethel, Pa., aboard their "Sterling III." Aboard the 72-foot Luders craft with the Addisons were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Pierce of New Bedford, Mass. and Cocoanut Grove.

"Sylvia H," the Howard Chilton's Chris Craft Constellation is in its seasonal slip at the Brazilian Dock. Mrs. Chilton, the well-known local artist, has done many of her paintings while cruising aboard the "Sylvia H," named in her honor.

Delmar and Kenneth Kroehler plan fishing and skin-diving excursions again this season in the Bahamian waters in the 54-foot sports cruiser "Lark," docked at the Sailfish Club of Florida.

"Yankee Clipper III," Mr. William Allison's impressive luxury crusier, is berthed at the Australian Avenue Dock. Mr. Allison, from Chicago, sailed with his wife, the former Mrs. Anne Mitchell Rigg of Greenwich, Conn., on a honeymoon cruise to Nassau after their November wedding.

The trim Henry L. Crowley "Thunderbird" at the Sailfish Club Dock is in constant demand by Mr. Crowley's daughter, Mrs. Katherine Quinn, an active fisherwoman.

At the Palm Beach Yatch Club Dock the first boat to appear in its seasonal berth is the "Joyeux" owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kelly of Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Meisel from Seaside Park, N. J., are aboard their "Ermil III" berthed for the season at the Everglades Avenue Dock.

Also at the Everglades Avenue Dock is Mr. Oscar Seabass of Madison, Conn., aboard his houseboat "Sea Rest."

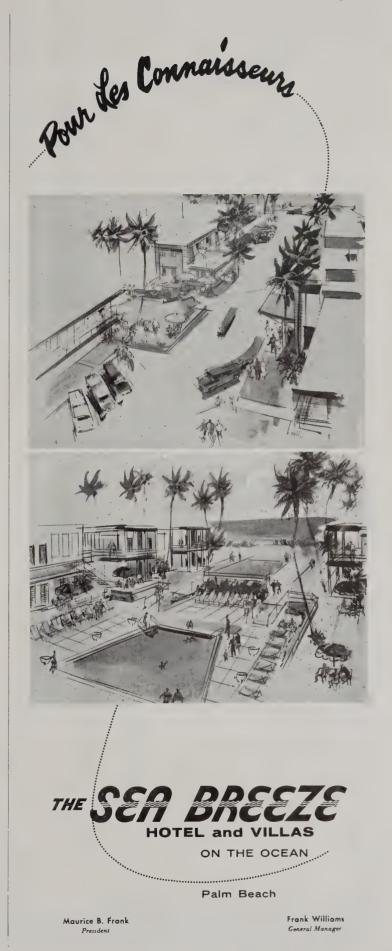

Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Patten of Palm Beach cruised in the Keys with their sons, Robert and Stephen, shortly before Christmas aboard their 57-foot "Bali Ha'i."

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn G. Lindsay will board their newly acquired Trumpy cruiser, the "El-G-El" (formerly the Howell Van Gerbig "Tonda") around the middle of January. The Lindsays, who have been sailing out of Palm Beach waters for the past three years, plan to spend much of their time fishing. Mr. Lindsay is a member of the White Bear and St. Paul Yacht Clubs.

Mr. W. T. Grant's 70-foot houseboat, "Sunbeam," arrived at its seasonal berth at the Palm Beach Yacht Club in mid-December. Mr. Grant plans to cruise in the Keys sometime during the season. At a neighboring berth is the Marine Development Company "Pearl Necklace."

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Welder were expected to board their 66-foot "Katalina" also at the Palm Beach Yacht Club Dock January 10th, and Mr. J. Trevor Pierce, who brought his cruiser "Trevelen II" to the Yacht Club Dock in November, was expected to return after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney A. Gutkin, of South Orange, N. J., their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Greenberg, and their young granddaughter, Debbie Lynn, spent the holidays aboard their 54-foot cabin cruiser, "Honey Bea," berthed at the Biltmore Hotel Dock.

Grapetree Bay

St. Croix's Newest Distinguished Resort

T. CROIX RHYMES WITH JOY — according to well-traveled author, Sidney Clark in his most recent book, All The Best In The Caribbean. Indeed he is right, both from the standpoint of local pronunciation, as well as from the viewpoint of the resorter who Winters there — and loves it, too.

This island, one of the American Virgin Islands, which in the course of its history has flown seven flags, is fast on its way to becoming the United States' answer to the fashionable Caribbean resorts with a British accent.

Estate Carlton successfully sparked the fuse when it opened its doors four years ago this season to the Winter resorter seeking that elusive country club atmosphere away from home, yet with an international flair.

This year the Grapetree Bay Hotel followed suit when it made its debut to the world of resorts on December first. At this time it became not only St. Croix's largest resort, but also followed the clubtype resort pattern already popularly established in such posh sun spots as the afore-mentioned Estate Carlton, Round Hill in Montego Bay and the Mill Reef Club in Antigua, to name a few.

Its location is unique. It is seven miles from Christiansted, capital of St. Croix, and is situated on the easternmost tip of U.S. soil. The property runs from one side of the island clear through to the other, and is bi-sected by a low lying range of sugar loaf mountains.

Sea Grape Terrace, a duplex central unit, will be the center of social activity and dining. The lower level adjoins a free-form swimming pool, and houses a canopied bar and coffee shop. The upper level consists of a colorful, airy, lobby-lounge, and large bar and cocktail lounge, outdoor dance floor, and a spacious dining room, which is partially enclosed.

The motif of the interiors of Sea Grape Terrace and of the villas is Danish modern. All furniture has been imported from Denmark to carry out the Danish heritage of the island, and the decor was done by interior decorator, Mr. Jose Alegria, who owns the La Rada Hotel in San Juan.

Each of its villas are similar in plan, and are made up of three bedrooms, each with private bath, and each with separate entrance, but all opening onto an 80-foot veranda overlooking the blue Caribbean. Villas cost $42,000 apiece to construct without furnishings.

No air-conditioning is another feature of the Grapetree Bay Hotel. It is not needed on St. Croix, since the island is blessed with a mild, low humidity climate the year around, as well as with constant gentle trade winds. The average temperature is 78 degrees, and there is only a 6 degree variation between Winter and Summer.

Two white donkeys, Snowball I and Snowball II, drawing a surrey with a white fringe on top, will supply transportation for guests to and from Sea Grape Terrace on regular schedule.

Grapetree Bay will be the first hotel on the island to provide entertainment for guests every night of the week. Plans call for dancing to a steel band Friday and Saturday nights, and an American-type band one other night of the week. Movies, alternating between cinemascope and color, will be run twice a week, while one night will be devoted to a native folk sing, and another to a beach barbecue with Crucian entertainment.

This year Pan American has scheduled two flights weekly nonstop between New York and St. Croix, and three through flights daily from San Juan to St. Croix, connecting with Eastern, Pan American, Trans Caribbean from New York or Miami.

The Grapetree Bay Hotel was built at a cost of $2,500,000 and will accommodate 210 guests in cottage units. The hotel consists of one main unit, Sea Grape Terrace, and 105 luxurious bedrooms in 35 guest villas on a 300-acre estate which stretches for a mile along the seas.

It is being managed by Mr. Ralph Breshears, former President of the Sapphire Valley Club at Sapphire Valley, North Carolina.

some 80 feminine anglers, shrouded by fog and chilly mists, headed out the Palm Beach Inlet to make their bid in the first annual Billfish Tournament staged by the International Women's Fishing Association.

contestants which since that time has included some of the nation's top anglerettes.

From the very first, the tournament was an event to be dominated by feminie anglers from the Palm Beaches, Winter home of many world champion anglerettes, but none so fortunate to have ever twice won the IWFA Billfish championship.

The tournament champions include Mrs. Bev. Smith who this year was defending champion for the fifth annual tournament held earlier this month at Palm Beach Shores.

Other pervious winners who saw action again in the current competition included Mrs. William Borough, winner of the second annual meet and Mrs. Dorothea Lincoln Dean, champion of the third annual meet which was held at Stuart.

Winner of the first tournament was Mrs.

Edward Cosgrove, a Minnesota woman who spends her winters in Palm Beach. Mrs. Cosgrove has not been among contestants in late years but still retains her membership in the organization.

Though the tournament, despite committees attempts to dodge the elements by switching dates, has nearly always been plagued by bad weather. The event has been staged in the face of small craft warnings, heavy fog and chilling cold that has forced anglers to retreat inside heavy parkas, wool socks and gloves.

The feminine anglers, because of aggravating handicaps dished up by the weatherman, have always won the plaudits of all sportsmen who closely follow the tournaments

Take for instance the year when Mrs. Dean won her championship. Small craft warnings were flying throughout the tournament, and heavy seas made fishing difficult. Mrs. Dean had decided to fish the event with 10-lb. test line which most anglers reserve for sunnier days and calmer waters. But she stuck by her decision and rolled up a large number of points for her trouble. IWFA tournaments are scored for sailfish caught and released alive and the type of tackle used to turn the trick. The light tackle proved to be the winning margin for Mrs. Dean. In that same tournament, Mrs. Ralph Kettler, West Palm Beach, finished in a threeway tie for second place and Mrs. John Holman, also of West Palm Beach, took third place.

Last year Mrs. Smith won her championship by releasing four sailfish in the two-day event—an achievement which won her the Cuevas Plaque, the gold tournament disc and the annual award posted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beinecke, Palm Beach.

Also in the winners corner with Mrs. Smith were Mrs. Lon Ehler, Palm Beach Shores; Mrs. Dean, Mrs. John Rybovich Jr., West Palm Beach; Mrs. Borough, Mrs. George Hill Jr., and Mrs. Edward Flanagan of Palm Beach; and, Mrs. J. L. Webb and Mrs. B. G. Odescalchi of Delray Beach.

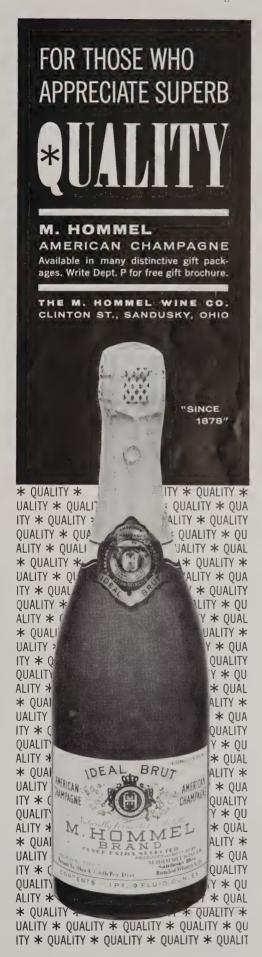

Though four annual tournaments are planned each year under auspices of the IWFA, none captures the interest and enthusiasm of the Billfish Tournaments. Waters off the Florida East Coast have been the fishing grounds for the first five events, but the IWFA is looking toward the Pacific for its next tournament and hopes to stage the next meet at Acapulco, Mexico, probably late this year.

Coveted gold awards for IWFA tournament winners include (shown from top to bottom) The Rybovich award for the champion; release charms for daily winners and the Flanagan Dolphin award for the top dolphin catch scored during the meet.

100th Inhilee

at the Royal Victoria, Nassau, Bahamas

By MARGUERITE ALLAN

HE ROYAL VICTORIA in Nassau opened on December 15th to celebrate its Centennial Year, taking its place in resort history with other such greats as The Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia and the Crawford House at Crawford Notch, New Hampshire who also have made their one hundred year milestones.

Ringing in the old with the new, this gracious First Lady of Nassau resorts this year also has completed a million dollar expansion program, which has included a new unit, "Queen's Court," Mr. Frank A. McHugh, managing director, announced recently.

Queen's Court adjoins and opens out onto the swimming pool on the verdant Royal Victoria estate. It is a two-storied building of Nassauvian architecture which consists of 24 bedrooms, a snack bar, a dining area, and a new intime Night Club.

It was designed by Robertson Ward, architect of the Mill Reef Club on the island of Antigua, W.I., and Estate Carlton on St. Croix in the Virgin Islands. Queen's Court is being decorated by Mrs. Robertson Ward to preserve the mellow colonial and colorful

The Patio at the Royal Victoria at Nassau, Bahamas, which overlooks the magnificent gardens, is the meeting place for cocktails as a native band entertains.

Bahamian atmosphere for which the hotel is world-renowned. Each bedroom will have its own private lanai, beds with the finest Simmons' inter-spring mattresses, bath-dressing room, and adjoining kitchenette.

The crowning feature of the Royal Victoria, its exotic gardens, will remain undisturbed by present alterations and additions. The gardens feature over 200 varieties of tropical trees, shrubs, and plants, centered about a huge silk tree of the kapok family, which is reputed to be over 200 years old.

New this year too, is the operation of the Royal Victoria by Treadway Inns International, Ltd., a counterpart of the Treadway Inns Corporation of the United States, with 30 years of the finest in traditional New England innkeeping to its credit. Thus it will blend the gracious dignity and gourmet dining of yesteryear, with every modern convenience which marks the advent of the second decade of the mid-twentieth century.

If you peek through the looking glass and turn the clock back to 1859, you will discover that The Royal Victoria was not only Nassau's first resort hotel, but was, even then, expansively and expensively decorated. Since it was completed in the early part of the Civil War, among its first patrons were the dashing men in grey of the Confederate Army; the daring blockade runners; and representatives of many English cotton firms whose business was to get cotton at any price for their Lancashire mills.

The banqueting hall was the scene of many gay parties, and in the front court gold eagles and twenty dollar gold pieces were flung to the young scramblers. The Royal Victoria became the centre of the revels and excitement which prevailed in Nassau in those delirious days — a time when Union and Confederate soldiers were housed at the same time under the hotel's broad, gentle sloping roof. While at war with one another, they were on neutral ground, and had to observe proper amenities toward one another, while they played "spy and counter-spy."

The Royal Victoria in its day has numbered many distinguished personalities, from both England and America. Some of the famous social gatherings in the Colony's history took place within its gracious rooms. Few can now recall the glamorous banquets of Civil War days, but within living memory is the ball given in honour of the young Chamberlain brothers, Austen and Neville (who were destined to become, respectively, a notable Foreign Secretary and a Prime Minister of Great Britain.

The Parliamentary dinner to the Right Honourable Sir Winston Churchill in 1931 was a memorable occasion of more recent times and took its place along with the fetes that were held there in honour of Queen Victoria's consort, Prince Albert at the time of his visit to Nassau.

Today the glamour of that era has been restored to the Royal Victoria, as she royally reigns again over the realm of resorts in her rightful place as First Lady of Nassau.

The Everglades Club's New Golf Terrace

Two men who played a leading part in the construction this past Summer of the new Everglades Golf Terrace pose in the new cocktail lounge there. At right, Mr. Edward E. Bartlett Jr., President of the Club and the Everglades Protective Syndicate, who approved building plans before leaving for the Summer and kept in touch during the construction with Mr. Lamar Harmon, Manager, shown with him, who personally supervised the building program.

WO GALA OPENINGS instead of one featured the early Everglades Club season, with the official launching of the new Golf Terrace December 10th, rivaling in interest the traditional New Year's Eve party in the Orange Gardens.

The Golf Terrace, which at most can accommodate little more than half the number that sometimes jams into the Gardens, followed right in line with tradition.

Long before either opening reservations had been filled and there were long waiting

The Terrace had the charm of novelty for ever since members began trickling back in the early Fall, everyone was consumed with curiosity as to what the new building would look like when the task of building and decorating was completed.

Fresh and attractive with its pale yellow stucco facade, topped with Cuban tile roof and set off with a handsome long grillwork canopy over the entrance, the Golf Terrace had risen on the site of the outmoded and outgrown structure. Only the locker section had been retained.

When finally the front doors were unlocked and more than 400 members and guests began the promenade under the canopy, usual social chit-chat gave way to interested comments on the new facilities and the decor.

Mid-way through dinner, which was featured by parties ranging from foursomes to large groups, Mr. Edward E. Bartlett, President of both the Club and the Everglades Protective Syndicate, which handles the Club properties, rose from a ringside table and proceeded to the bandshell in the dance patio to make a brief speech of welcome and appreciation.

He paid tribute to the three men most responsible for the new building: Mr. Lamar Harmon, Club manager, who supervised the building during the Summer months; Mr. John L. Volk, architect; and Mr. Harold R. Masten, decorator.

Main features of the new Golf Terrace proved to be the handsome rococo Cocktail Lounge with its cherry red upholstery furniture, gold draperies, and decorative Venetian chandelier; the dining area with its trellissed walls and green and white striped roof; the new Golf Pavilion with its pecky cypress paneling, cork floor that allows golfers to lunch or drink without changing, and its own small kitchen and bar for daytime service.

For the women, there was nothing more interesting than the feminine lounge, whose decor ranged frim the chi-chi to the daring. The delicate pastel tints of the floral wallpaper, fabricated in Japan, were repeated in the lushly soft multi-colored carpet, while bold shocking pink stripes featured the curved corners of the room in the French flocked wallpaper. Triplicate mirrors against the wall were supplemented by the four of an obelisk mirror rising from the dressing table in the center.

The work of two well-known artists formed part of the decor. In the foyers were noted two colorful paintings by Robert Bushnell, who did the Balinese Bar in the main club. In the Cocktail Lounge decorative accents were provided by three paintings by Orville Bulman. Club member and well-known business man and artist of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Palm Beach.

Immediately following the opening, the Terrace was the center of nightly dinner dances.

Prior to the Club opeing, there were backgammon tournaments on Tuesday nights and putting tournaments on Thursdays on the new Putting Green.

Officially opened December 15th, the Everglades apartments and maisonettes began receiving resident members early in the month. Earliest to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Durham Smith, of Biltmore Forest, N. C., missing for the past two seasons as they were on world cruises.

Among early seasonal arrivals were Mr. John E. Rovensky, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Ross, Rye, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Terry, Princeton, N. J.; Mrs. Paul Healy, Lake Forest, Ill.; Mrs. Hortense Fabyan, Peoria, Ill.; Mr. Dorra Newton, from the Virgin Islands; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Haronay, Rye, N. Y.; Mr. Paul Shields, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hellyar, Norwichtown, Conn.

Mrs. Gerhard Wagner, who had been on a Far East cruise, came from New York in mid-December to be joined for Christmas by her husband.

Other holiday arrivals included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Ward, Kennebuck Beach, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Tuck Jr., and children, of Garden City, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Merrill, Rye, N. Y.

By Christmas the Club was teaming with seasonal and holiday guests, some of the latter remaining over for the big New Year's Eve dinner dance that annually officially opens the club.

More than 800 gathered in the Gardens, with others coming in later to dance the Old Year out, after Billy Marshall had led the Meyer Davis Orchestra in "Auld Lang Syne."

Immediately the Club was into its season, with all the regular events such as the Tombola luncheons and fashion shows, the Tuesday night buffets and backgammon tournaments, the Saturday night parties. Thursday evenings with vaudeville will be resumed shortly.

On nights when there are no functions in the Orange Gardens there is dinner dancing on the Terrace.

At the Pre-View Tea, opening the "21st Annual Contemporary American Painting Exhibition" of The Society of the Four Arts

Mrs. Harold W. Sweatt serves tea to Mrs. Harold George (left), known professionally as Ouida George the artist, and Mrs. John J. O'Fallon.

By EMILIE KEYES

POTLIGHT OF INTEREST at the Society of the Four Arts for its first month of the 1959-60 season centered on the "21st Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting," opening event at the Gallery.

A record crowd of members and guests turned out on the afternoon of December 4th at the preview tea ushering in the show, greeted as a handsome exhibition of high caliber work, marking the current trend towards the abstract and non-objective in American art.

Walls of the Gallery, now aglow with the warmth and color of the paintings of the French Impressionist, Camille Pissarro, which opened January 8th, for the month of December presented a very different aspect.

Large, compelling canvases, virtually entirely divorced from the representational and traditional, made up the greater part of the "21st Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting." Representing almost as many approaches to non-objective modern art as there were artists, the paintings attested in their technique and professional appearance to the quality of the art being turned out by contemporary artists today.

Good design and in the main rather restrained use of color, with emphasis on monotones and cold, clear hues, characterized the show. Indicative of the rigid jurying was the fact that the 76 entries were chosen from almost 500 paintings submitted. Mr. Gordon B. Washburn, Director of the Department of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, served as judge both of admissions and awards.

The task of assembling and hanging the show was by Mr. Russell A. Plimpton, Four Arts Director.

Mrs. James Cameron Clark, Chairman of the Art Committee, was among the hostesses at the tea tables, and noted in the crowd was her husband, donor of $1,000 in award money.

Mr. Channing Hare, distinguished portrait artist who contributed $200 in prize money, arrived in Palm Beach for the season in time to attend the opening, as did Mr. Hopkins Hensel, another well-known artist. Both Mr. Hare and Mr. Hensel were represented with fine works in their distinctive styles.

Among artists in the show noted in the crowd were Ouida (Mrs. Harold) George, Ann (Mrs. Ralph H.) Norton, Mary Priscilla Maloney, Hilda Solomon of Chicago, Mort Phillips, Frank W. Ballufi, Harvey Van Sant, Patrick Archer and Helen (Mrs. John) Tripp.

Mrs. Tripp, mother-in-law of Mr. Archer, attended with her husband and the young Archers.

Gertrude (Mrs. William P.) Schweitzer, distinguished internationally-known artist, a prize winner, did not return to Palm Beach in time to attend.

Emily (Mrs. Anthony) Wilson of Hobe Sound, winner of an honorable mention in watercolors, was still overseas.

Presiding at the tea tables were also Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, wife of the Four Arts President; Mrs. Harold Wilson Sweatt, Mrs. James A. de Peyster, Mrs. Seton Lindsay, Mrs. Frederick Royster Johnson, bride of Mr. Wyeth's architectural partner, Mrs. Page Hufty, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mrs. David H. Annan, Mrs. Charles R. Wilson, $100 Channing Hare Award: "White Collage" by Keith M. Martin, of Baltimore, Md.

$75 Four Arts Award: "Fragments of Yesterday" by Sylvia Bernstein, Scarsdale, N. Y.

$50 Four Arts Award: "Space" by Gertrude Schweitzer, of Palm Beach.

$25 Four Arts Award: "Three Figures" by James B. Watson, of Washington, D. C.

The Covington top prize winner "Storm-front" dominated the smaller South Gallery, a striking very large canvas in muted grays, white and black with a touch of rose, semi-abstract in style yet suggesting the majesty and chaos of a storm-tossed forest.

In contrast were the bright icy blues with hint of vivid pink and white in the Zerbe "Hudson Bay."

The first award winner in watercolors and drawings was the charming "White Collage" by the Baltimore artist, Keith M. Martin, who had the distinction of being the only one to have two entries hung. Both were cleverly devised and well executed collages in muted color effects.

Miss Bernstein's "Fragments of Yesterday" was an unusual study, in which color was imposed on old news print.

Mrs. Schweitzer's "Space" underscored the

Mrs. Schweitzer's "Space" underscored the interest in spatial relationships noted in a number of works. In "Space," an obviously whirling deep red sphere surmounts an indigo cloud against a grayish white sky.

During December, the only special activity at the Gallery centered around the exhibition, which remained open to the public through December 29th.

With the coming of January, the Four Arts sprang into full action.

The lecture series, for which Mr. Stanton Griffis is Chairman, began January 5th with a talk "The Outlook for Soviet-American Relations" by Thomas P. Whitney, foreign news analyst for the Associated Press. The lectures are continuing each Tuesday afternoon through March 22nd.

Junior Films, for which Mrs. Eleanor Q. Bamford is Chairman, began January 9th with "Missouri Traveler," and will be held each Saturday through March 26th.

Adult movies, shown on Friday with the exception of preview-tea days, will begin January 15th with "My Uncle." Off-the-beaten-track films will be shown Friday afternoons and evenings through April 1st. Mrs. Charles R. Wilson is chairman for this activity.

The Four Arts Library is open all year. Mrs. David H. Annan is Chairman. Mrs. Lee McKinney is librarian, assisted by Mrs. Irene Stevenson and Mrs. Mabel Gick, children's librarian.

Mrs. Julius W. Noyes and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton have arranged for music and dance programs for February and March, Ississippi's second Miss America in as many years, Miss Lynda Lee I Mead, of Natchez, was the guest of honor at a dinner dance December 17th at the South's finest year-around resort, the famed Edgewater Gulf Hotel, located on Mississippi's Gulf Coast midway between Biloxi and Gulfport.

The lovely Natchez belle, named 'Miss America of 1960" in September at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, succeeded University of Mississippi classmate Miss Mary Ann Mobley, of Brandon, "Miss America of 1959.'

More than 400 invited guests attended the banquet and the dance given at the Edgewater Gulf by the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Cleve Allen of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company.

MR. EDWARD BALL, noted financier and owner of the Edgewater Gulf Hotel, was scheduled to arrive from Jacksonville for his annual holiday visit. For many years Mr. Ball has spent Christmas and New Year's at the hotel, entertaining a host of friends from throughout the United States each holiday season. This year his visit was to extend from mid-December to shortly after the first of the year.

HAVE IDEAS originated at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel changed the course of the history of the nation?

The Rev. James W. Sells, Atlanta, Ga., thinks so.

He and Mrs. Sells have been vacationing regularly at the hotel for the last 15 years. They were at the Edgewater Gulf for a long holiday at Thanksgiving time.

"It would be interesting to know how the course of history has been changed by ideas originating in the minds of persons from all over the world who have stayed at the hotel," Mr. Sells said. "One can only think clearly when he is in a relaxed mood and this resort hotel atmosphere furnishes the mood for

"This thought came to me when I found the mood to write again after a few days of rest and relaxation here."

Mr. Sells is executive secretary of the southeastern jurisdiction of the Methodist Church. Recently he collaborated on a book titled "This Is The South" published in October. In addition to several prominent Southern authors, chapters were written by three Pulitzer prize winners, Hartnett Kane, Hodding Carter and Paul Green. Two thirds of the book's first edition have been sold.

After finishing his work on "This Is The South," a book that tells "what makes the South the South," Mr. Sells began work while at the hotel on another book. He would not say what the book will be about,

"I can't say now," he said. "But changing the subject, I will say that the 'Gulf Crescent' will be the center of the industrial empire of the nation for the next 50 years."

Socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. Stanford E. Morse, 1024 West Beach, Pass Christian, who reside in one of the lovely historic homes along the Mississippi Gulf Coast near the Edgewater Gulf Hotel resort, had a group of distinguished guests from New Orleans for the Thanksgiving holidays. They were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice de Simonin and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Airey. Mr. de Simonin, now retired, was formerly French Ambassador to Africa and French Consul General in New Orleans. The charming Mrs. de Simonin is a sister of John Tims, president of the Times-Picayune in New Orleans.

The name Morse in Mississippi is synonymous with the legal profession, since in the state there are three firms operating under the name Morse and Morse. In Gulfport Mr. Stanford E. Morse is engaged in the practice of law with his twin sons, George and Stanford Jr., a Mississippi State Senator. According to a representative of Martindale-Hubbell, Mr. Morse and his sons comprise the only father and twin-son combination in the world who are engaged together in the practice of law.

And the legal family tree goes much further. Mr. Stanford E. Morse's two brothers are attorneys and each have law firms in partnerships with their sons. They are J. M. Morse Jr., whose son, Joshua (Josh) Marion, is his law partner in Poplarville, Miss., and William Eugene (Gene) Morse, who practices law in partnership with his son, Dan Morse, in Jackson, Miss.

Dr. and Mrs. Lucian W. Alexander, 25 Audubon Place, New Oreleans, La., came to the Edgewater Gulf Hotel the weekend after Thanksgiving for one of their frequent holidays at the resort. With them were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Alexander Jr., also of New Orleans. Dr. and Mrs. Alexander, who were married August 29th in New Orleans, were just back from a

Alumni Association, and he is a member of the City Club of Baton Rouge. Vacationing at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel is actually almost homecoming for Mr. Bingham who spent three and one half years on the coast when he was a Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force and assistant director of Administrative Service at Keesler Air Force Base.

Many golf "regulars" are planning vacations at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel after January 1st when internationally known Johnny Revolta will return to the Mississippi Gulf Coast from a vacation in California and will be at the resort's championship golf course. General Manager Frank Fagan, of the Edgewater Gulf, said the course is in excellent shape, and awaiting the arrival of the golf enthusiasts who come to play each season.

Revolta has held most of the records worth holding in the golf world. Starting his golfing career at Oshkosh, Wis., he was a professional at 15 and has been P.G.A. Champion, Western Open Champion, and has played on the Edgewater Gulf Hotel for a Fall vacation. Mrs. Bush and Mrs. Baker are daughters of former Congressman and Mrs. Daniel R. McGehee, of Mississippi and Washington, D. C. The McGehee family, one of the oldest in Mississippi, was immortalized in Stark Young's novel of the Civil War, "So Red the Rose," which was later made into a film. Mrs. Bush's husband is an executive of Olin Mathicson Chemical Corporation. They live in Washington, D. C., and are active in the Washington social whirl. Their clubs are the Congressional Club, the Potomac Polo Club and the Aviation Club. Mrs. Bush is chairman of invitations for the Bal de Paris, annual society charity ball with French Ambassador and Madame Alphaud the guests of honor. Mrs. Baker's husband is a director of documentary films. She is an actress of stage and television. She played opposite Monty Wooley in "The Man Who Came To Dinner" on a six months national tour, and co-starred opposite John Payne in the motion picture "The Boss." She has played leads on "Climax," vacation in Mexico City. Dr. Alexander, an assistant professor in the Tulane University Medical School, is a member of the Pickwick Club and Round Table Club, and she is a member of the Orleans Club. They also are members of the New Orleans Country Club. At the Edgewater Gulf, Dr. Alexander made preliminary arrangements for a meeting of the Louisiana-Mississippi Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Club, of which he is president, to be held at the hotel April 8th and 9th.

Other interesting guests during Thanksgiving holidays were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bingham, of Baton Rouge, La., who were here for a week's vacation. Mr. Bingham, president of the Percy Agency, Inc., Insurance in Baton Rouge, is past president of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents. In Baton Rouge both are active in church work with membership in St. James Episcopal Church and are members of the Baton Rouge Country Club. She is a member of Kappa Delta

The N. S. Shobes were in for a holiday during the Fall, and with them were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shepherd of New Orleans. The Shobes commute in their twin-engined plane between their three homes - a beautiful house on the ocean in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., at 1400 N. Atlantic St., one in Memphis, Tenn., and another in Muscle Shoals, Ala. The Shepherds have been vacationing regularly for the last 20 years at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel.

Mrs. William R. Bush and daughter, Dorothea Ann, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Douglas J. Baker, New York, N. Y., were at "The Loretta Young Show," "Ann Southern Show," "Gunsmoke" and "Medic" (and for this last role she was nominated for a television award). She now lives in New York and is signed for a new Broadway play. Mrs. Baker christened the first ship, "Mormactide," launched in Pascagoula.

Vacationing here during the Fall were Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Westbrook, of Jackson, Miss. They own a pleasure boat which they keep on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and frequently entertain their friends here. Mr. Westbrook is vice president of the Westbrook Manufacturing Company, Jackson, Miss., and is secretary-treasurer of the Marine Distributing Company. Mrs. Westbrook, a graduate of the University of Texas, is an accomplished singer and appears frequently in her home state before clubs, on television and is a soloist in the Gallowav Memorial Church choir in Jackson. They are members of the Jackson Country Club and the Greenville Yacht Club, and she is affiliated with the Jackson Music Association, the Opera Guild, Maids and Matrons Club and the Capital City Club.

Guests at the Edgewater Gulf in the Fall included Carr P. Collins Sr., and sons, Carr P. Collins Jr. and James M. Collins, all of Dallas, Texas. Carr P. Collins Sr. is chairman of the board and James M. Collins is president of Fidelity Union Life Insurance Company in Dallas. Carr P. Collins Jr. is president of Plymouth Park Development in Dallas. Their clubs include the Dallas Country Club, Northwood Country Club, City Club, Idlewild and Terpsichorean Club. The Collins brothers are members of the Harvard Club.

Other visitors from Texas in the Fall were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rhodes Sr., 711 N. Glasgow Dr., Dallas. Mr. Rhodes is a member of the Insurance Club of Dallas, the Dallas Association of Life Underwriters and the Riverlake Country Club. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are active in the Dallas Council of World Affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sparks and daughters, Sue and Judy, of Des Moines, Iowa, were here in early December when the family came to pick up Judy, a student at Gulf Park College, for the Christmas holidays. When they accompany her back to school in January, the family will enjoy another mid-Winter vacation, many hours of which they expect to spend on the hotel's golf course.

The Royal Poinciana Playhouse

the Royal Poinciana Playhouse rings up its curtain for its third year, indications point to a season of bright entertainment and big names at Mr. Frank Hale's beautiful theatre and its companion, The Celebrity Room.

Like the traditional bride, The Playhouse this year might be described as flaunting "something old, something new . . . something borrowed, something blue."

For, opening the season January 25th will be that beloved old-time friend of The Playhouse, Helen Hayes, hailed as the "First Lady of the Theatre." She will appear, not in one of her later successes, but in the Stark Young version of Anton Chekov's classic "The Cherry Orchard."

There'll be a brand new, as yet untried play, when Robert Cummings, popular favorite here, returns in "Roger the VI," for its inaugural performance.

At least two offerings will be borrowed right fresh from Broadway. "Marriage-Go-Round," which will probably be the second play of the season, is still one of New York's sell-out successes with Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert.

The Playhouse production will be the first one in this country in addition to that on Broadway, and has been made possible through special arrangement, for the comedy has not yet been released for touring companies or off-Broadway use.

"Two for the Seasaw," which only recently closed a sensationally successful Broadway run, has been seen out of New York only in the National Company production. This will be the first independent production off Broadway.

Add an "s" to "blue" and it suggests the return of the attraction that last year broke all Playhouse records.

For Fred Waring, his Pennsylvanians and Glee Club are coming back March 14th in "Adventures in Stereophonic Sound," successor to his "Hi Fi Holiday," the sensation of last season. Three matinees were necessitated then, and three will be held this year.

Last season, The Royal Poinciana Playhouse closed with the Richard Rodgers' new version and production of "Babes in Arms," which went on to be a success of the Summer circuit. This year, it's quite likely that the famed composer will return to launch his new version of "Pal Joey" the same way.

Hope is high that the one, the only Tallulah Bankhead may recreate her most famous role, that of Regina in "The Little Foxes," at The Playhouse this season.

The Playhouse season will run through April 28th, with ten productions in all, further plans to be announced later.

Mr. Hale has announced a big name policy for the Celebrity Room, under the management this year of Mr. Nick Gara, assisted by Mr. Robert Mentser.

For the week-end of the Helen Hayes engagement, the Celebrity Room will have as its headlines Xavier Cugat and Abbe Lane.

Other big timers to follow include such songstresses as Lisa Kirk and Jane Morgan, such comics as Joe E. Lewis.

Mr. Hale, who spent much of the Summer abroad and the Fall in New York, with visits back and forth to Palm Beach, has closed his house here and settled for the Winter in an apartment at The Palm Beach Towers.

Mr. Paul Crabtree, Producing Director, spent the Summer here with his family, making occasional trips to New York.

This season he will be assisted by Mr. James M. Riley, as assistant producing director. The position of artistic director has been assumed by Mr. Paul Bertelsen.

Mr. Riley succeeds Mr. John Giroux, who has deserted the theatre for law, planning to specialize in theatrical law when he finishes law school.

Even before the subscription drive got well underway under Mrs. Barbara Gault, it was announced that opening night and Wednesday matinees were completely sold out for the season.

The Royal Poinciana Playhouse, a beautiful building set on the shores of Lake Worth, which resembles in its decor and fittings the charm of a Viennese opera house, opened in January 1958, and has had two seasons, studded with stellar names and has created a number of new production to have their premiere here.

Among the names that graced . . . or would have graced the marquee if the elegant Playhouse used one . . . have been Celeste Holm, Shirley Booth, Billie Burke, Vincent Price, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, Arthur Treacher, Eva Gabor, Fay Bainter, Dody Goodman.

The Palm Beach Jowers

HE PALM BEACH Towers, now well launched into its fourth season and ably directed by Mr. Donald W. Paton, distinguished hotelman with an international reputation and background, has undergone many important changes during the past Summer months.

Notable among the major changes is in the food and beverage operation, now under the direction of the hotel management. The beautiful Poinciana Room re-opened for the season on December 13th, with a Buffet, a Special Sunday Night feature all Winter, with dancing to Meyer Davis' music under the directon of Paul Sparr, a favorite of the Palm Beach Cottage Colony Set. Another change to note is the policy of this popular room; it is now open on Monday nights, at which time the Meyer Davis' music under the direction of Alfred Menconi is featured, with his Latin-American rhythms. On the other five nights of the week these two bands alternate with continuous music. Gourmet dinners executed by Chef Richard Nickerson, now here this season, and formerly with the Mt. Washington Hotel in Bretton Woods, N. H., for many years, have become the keynote in this Room. Chef Nickerson is a member of the Epicurean Club of Greater Miami and was nominated as a candidate for the American Chef of the year.

The Keyboard Lounge remains a popular Room for luncheon, cocktails, and dinner without dancing. Fred Witmer is at the piano nightly during the cocktail hour.

Built in 1956 at a cost of ten million dollars, and situated on the lakefront site of Henry Flagler's legendary Royal Poinciana Hotel, and occupying eleven attractively landscaped acres, there are 310 units each with a terrace, and consisting of over 1,100 rooms.

Facilities include a Cabana Club with two swimming pools, one of which is of Olympic size, a Health Club and Solarium, an eighteen-hole putting green. The shopping concourse has shops unsurpassed for beauty and smartness, and a very active and up-to-date stock broker's office.

The Palm Beach Towers is fast becoming one of the most important and successful all year round resort hotels, catering at the same time to many seasonal and transient guests. A large percentage of the residents have signed leases for periods of one to five years and the demand for these beautiful suites is rapidly increasing.

"People stay where they are well treated," is the motto of Mr. Donald W. Paton. As host to the great and near-great during his quarter century career of hotel management, from the smart and fashionable hotels in the

Mr. Frank Hale, shown with Mrs. Stephen Sanford (left) and Mrs. Winston Guest at a performance of "The Princess" last season, has become a resident of The Towers.

East fifties of New York City, The Madison, The Delmonico, The Ritz Tower, to the four luxury hotels in the Dominican Republic, guests have learned they can count on him to provide the acme of service for distinguished living.

The proximity of The Towers to the Royal Poinciana Playhouse and the Royal Poinciana Plaza is an added attraction for the guests. This has been called, and rightly so, the most beautiful Shopping Plaza in the world.

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge Sr. arrived early in the season to occupy the beautiful penthouse of the Maharanee of Baroda, and plans to remain until May.

Mrs. Herbert Farrell Sr. arrived from New York City in early January to occupy her Towers suite for the Winter. Mrs. Farfell spent the Summer in Southampton, L. I.

Mrs. John Earnshaw of Washington was also among the early January arrivals.

Mr. Frank Hale, President of the Royal Poinciana Playhouse, has closed his Palm Beach home for this season and has leased an apartment at The Towers. It is completely and exquistely furnished in all white, relieved by contrasting colors in accessories. Mr. Hale is President of National Yeast Corp., patron of the arts, and philanthropist, and has been a long-time resident of Palm Beach. Many of his Playhouse stars also will be in residence at The Towers.

Quite a few of the permanent residents of The Towers spent the Summer months in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. David Nemerov, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Krich, toured Japan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Israel, Greece, Italy, and spent some time in Paris, before returning to Palm Beach in late October.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gaspar spent the Summer on the French and Italian Riviera, and returned in November with tales of the Friday night galas in Monaco. The height of enjoyment at the height of the Summer season was La Gala de la Croix-Rouge, held at the Sporting Club in Monaco, which Mr. and Mrs. Gaspar attended with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cove of Palm Beach, who were also spending the Summer on the Continent. Among those noted at different tables with guests were the Maharanee of Baroda, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cummings,

HE New YEAR has been rung in... Santa's come and gone, but many of us still feel the effects of all the excitement and rush!

Snow, we did not have, here in Florida for Christmas, but we did have the Christmas spirit! Everyone was kept on their toes during the gay holidays with a full schedule of activities. Guests enjoying those activities were . . . Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. Olsen Jr. and family of Atlanta, Ga. . . . Colonel and Mrs. F. H. Hauser of Hoboken, N. J. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace of New York City . . . Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Williams of Chatham, N. J. . . . and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Randolph of Highland Park, Ill.

We really had a packed house for the Annual Gator Game on New Year's weekend. Georgia Tech and Arkansas fans claim it one of the best ever, and attending the game this year were: Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Ramsuer Jr. of Greenville, S. C. . . . Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ballander and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Beattie, also of Greenville, S. C. . . . Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thompson Jr. of Clearwater, Fla. . . . The luxurious mansion of Mr. Henry Morrison Flagler, which is being transformed into the Henry Morrison Flagler Museum, was one of the wonders of the world at the time of its completion, with its marble halls and rare eing transe wonders and treasures garnered from the four corners of the earth. The 12-story hotel, which bore the name of Whitehall also was built in such a way in and rare conjunction with the house that the original residence is as lovely today as when it was erected.

Henry Morrison Flagler Museum

HE MAGNIFICENT WHITEHALL MANSION, Palm Beach landmark and former home of Henry Flagler, Florida's great pioneer and benefactor, will be dedicated to the public as the Henry Morrison Flagler Museum at a gala Restoration Ball on February 6th, an event which promises to be a highlight of the 1960 Palm Beach social season.

Guiding personality in the establishment of the Museum is Mrs. Jean Louise Flagler Gonzales, a granddaughter of Henry Flagler and President of the Museum's Board of Trustees.

Other trustees are Mrs. Gonzales' husband, Mr. Ricardo C. Gonzales, of Pasadena, Calif.; Mr. George Gregory Matthews of Palm Beach, Mrs. Gonzales' son; Mr. Robert E. Lee, a senior partner in the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham and Taft, New York City, and Mrs. Alexander M. Hadden, president of the Palm Beach Round Table and the Institute of World Affairs.

Whitehall has been called "the Taj Mahal of North America." This comparison goes beyond the obvious splendor of the two structures. According to legend Mr. Flagler gave instructions to his architects to "build me the finest home you can think of." The architects were Carrere and Hastings, who also designed the United States Senate and House Office Buildings and the Carnegie Institute in Washington, D. C., the Metropolitan Opera House and the New York Public Library in New York City.

The mansion was completed in 1902 at a cost of $2,500,000 – a mere fraction of its estimated value today. One of the earliest visitors to Whitehall, a newspaperman, wrote in the New York Herald that the Flagler mansion was "more wonderful than any palace in Europe, grander and more magnificent than any other private dwelling in the world."

Whitehall stands on a six-acre site bordering Lake Worth. Extraordinary gardens, where palms, hibiscus, orange trees, and native Florida vegetation mingle with rare plants from other states and other lands, surround the creamy-white mansion. The grounds are enclosed by a handsome wrought-iron fence produced in England by master craftsmen. Broad drives lined with stately palms and exotic blossoms wind gracefully through the grounds.

In architectural style, Whitehall reflects the influence of Spain. In front, huge marble columns and broad steps form a vast colonnade entering into the main hall, which is 110 feet wide and 40 feet deep. Flagler decorated the hall with cameo medallions, rare tapestries and, according to the New York Herald's reporter, "the largest Persian Kirmansha rug ever loomed" (42 x 27).

Flagler's fondness for symbolic art was evident in the marble hall. A painting molded to the 20-foot dome represented "The Crowning of Knowledge." Other decorations included painted panels symbolizing Prosperity and Happiness, and medallions representing the Earth, Sea, Air, and Soil. Marble statues, in life size to represent Peace.

Leading off the hall, to the left, is the library, exquisitely paneled and furnished in Italian Renaissance. During Flagler's life, the library windows were hung with Arabian laces, part of the owner's collection of rare laces. Rich red tapestries formed the background for a collection of rare books and paintings.

A broad doorway connects the library with the music room, styled in Louis XIV. Here Flagler installed what was then the largest pipe organ ever placed in a private home in this country. Walls were hung with a collection of Whitehall's finest paintings. The domed ceiling exhibited a canvas panel of the Aurora, glowing with a unique illuminating design. Great crystal chandeliers and a patterned oak floor were other features of this breathtaking room.

To the right of the main entrance hall is the grand salon, finished in the decor of Louis XVI. Focal point of the room is a carved statuary marble fireplace and mantel. In this room, with its delicate shadings of silver and gray, Flagler had placed some of Whitehall's most impressive sculpture and carved screens. Here, again, he used the domed ceiling to set off a master's painted canvas.

The visitor passes through the salon to the main dining room, finished in warmly glowing Satinwood. Unique paneling studs the ceiling. The mantel is a masterpiece of carving. When Flagler entertained dinner guests, he and his party were grouped around a long Satinwood table on chairs covered with Aubusson tapestry. Carvings on the original buffets and china cabinets were judged by experts to be among the finest ever executed in this country.

A small (23 x 21) breakfast room, Elizabethan in style, adjoins the main dining room.

Perhaps the most striking room on the main floor is the ballroom (91×37) , with its glittering chandeliers, mirrored walls, and soft Boucher panels. Decorated in white and gold, in the style of Louis XV, the ballroom attains an atmosphere of quiet splendor.

Whitehall's rooms are arranged around a large interior courtyard, highlighted by a marble statuary fountain. Carved stone tablets mounted on the courtyard walls originated more than two centuries ago in a Spanish fort near Tallahassee, the capital of Florida.

One of the stone tablets bears the date "1719." This is believed to be the year that Fort San Marcos, a Spanish outpost at the junction of the St. Marks and Wakulla Rivers, was rebuilt as a stone structure after it was destroyed by pirates and Indians.

In 1818 American troops led by General Andrew Jackson seized Fort San Marcos. A few years later the old fort was abandoned, and the two stone tablets were removed from the ruins and mounted at the gateway of the official residence of the Territorial Governor of Florida, in Tallahassee, where they remained until purchased by Flagler.

Whitehall's bed chambers, including the master quarters occupied by Flagler, are located on the second floor. Sixteen guest rooms attest to Flagler's practice of entertaining frequently. Nearly all of the guest rooms exhibit a distinctive individual styling, ranging from Oriental to American Colonial. Each guest room has a private hallway leading to the main hall.

Six Doric columns of imported marble support the impressive facade of Whitehall, which is to be known as the Henry Morrison Flagler Museum. Richly sculptured urns, also of marble, stand on either side of the marquee.

VEN BEFORE the holiday season parties set a pace destined to make this Fort Lauderdale's gayest season.

Add to the usual crowded social calendar hosts of parties for the first debutantes to be presented here at Christmastime and New Year's and you have a record for the town annals.

First formal affair was a dinner dance in late Fall which launched the Navy League, a social organization formed some 100-strong among business leaders and prominent retired men. Washington "brass," including Adm. Arthur Radford, one-time highest ranking military officer when he was Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force, flew down for the occasion at Pier 66 Yacht Club. President is Harry Greep.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNaull were hosts at the first big party of the season, an elaborate cocktail buffet for 150 friends at the Lauderdale Yacht Club.

In late November thousands of Lauderdaleans turned out for the Promenade de Paris, a festive fair which converted Las Olas Boulevard into a Paris scene, complete with 40-foot replica of the Eiffel Tower, a Banque de France, where celebrants exchanged dollars for francs, and sidewalk art exhibits. This first-of-a-kind production, master-minded by Chairman Mrs. Richard Landrum, was sponsored by the Junior League for the benefit of the Fort Lauderdale Art Preceding all this informal fun, a formal and bubbly champagne dinner was given at the Lauderdale Beach Hotel. Hundreds of costumed guests mingled with the more conventional black-tie set.

On the cultural front, the Beaux Arts, comprising a group of prominent young women, banded together in November in support of the Art Center. Stephen Bowen, Chairman of the Art Center Board, and Director Schubert Jonas, were assisted in setting it up by Clay Aldrich, Director of the Lowe Gallery in Miami, Mrs. Russell Pancoast, first adviser to the Miami Beaux Arts, and Mrs. John M. Dyer, President of the Miami group.

Another "baby" among cultural organizations is the Fort Lauderdale Ballet Board, which has a full-fledged membership of prominent people eager to further ballet and allied arts here.

Directors are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Boucher of the Fort Lauderdale Theatre Arts Studio, 1038 N.E. Fourth Avenue. Mrs. Boucher, who is ballerina Helene Mladova, and her husband, have danced with many major ballet companies.

Currently the Bouchers have on display at the city's new library a fascinating ballet exhibition, which has been endorsed by the great ballerina Margot Fonteyn (de Arian) of the Royal Ballet, with whom Mr. Boucher danced in a film in London.

Moira Shearer, star of "The Red Shoes," in which both Mr. and Mrs. Boucher danced, sent over a pair of her dancing shoes to add glamour to the exhibit, which includes pictures of all the greats of ballet since the 18th century.

Glittering event for the young set, their parents and friends was the Debutante Heart Cotillion, first event on the New Year's calendar. Meyer Davis and his famed society band played for this second deb ball (last year's was at Eastertime) in the ballroom of the Governors' Club Hotel.

Parties beforehand kept debs and dates in a dizzy whirl. A pair of beautiful debutantes, those popular cousins, Patti Phipps and Carol Clark, came out together December 27th at a tea dance. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Phipps and Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Cox, were hosts at the Cox home in Rio Vista. Patti, granddaughter of the late Roddy Burdine, of the department store clan, is a freshman at the University of Oklahoma. Carol is a senior at Pine Crest School in Fort Lauderdale.

Mrs. William Peacock Jr. honored her attractive deb daughter, Mary Peacock, at a luncheon at the Yankee Clipper Hotel. Guests were sister debs and their mothers.

A luncheon at the Lauderdale Yacht Club for debutante Anne Bryan, daughter of a pioneer family, was given by her grand-mother, Mrs. E. P. Cushman, and her mother, Mrs. Reed Bryan Jr. That evening of December 26th Patti Phipps and Carol Clark were feted at a champagne cocktail party. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brooks hosted at their home in Coral Ridge.

A dinner-dance at the Coral Ridge Country Club introduced Mary Gordon (Gordy) Fickes and Pat Michael. Hosts were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Fickes and Mrs. Charles A. Michael.

Post debutantes gathered with the current crop when Mary Christine Matson, who came out last Spring, was hostess December 30th with her mother, Mrs. William Matson, and Mrs. Gerald F. Richardson, at a tea at the Matson home on Idlewyld Drive.

A big cocktail reception New Year's Eve was a happy preliminary for the debutante ball. Hosts were the Edward Halls and Mr. and Mrs. George Hall Jr., who entertained in honor of Patti Phipps and Carol Clark. It was given at the Ed Hall home in Harbor

These parties, and many more, culminated in the glamorous Debutante Heart Cotillion, which was sponsored for the first time last Spring by the Heart Association of Broward County.

Other holiday parties included the dinner-at-eight, preceded by cocktails, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. King in Plantation.

Two traditionals out Plantation way were the Christmas cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freris and the annual Christmas celebration over cocktails at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Osterman were holiday hosts to a large group at their Plantation home, where an elaborate lawn decoration starred Mrs. Santa Claus.

The Bachelors Club had its annual Christmas revel at the Plantation Golf and Country Club. Current benedicts and their dates were joined by 250 guests for a dinner dance after cocktail hour.

Christmas angels heralded the holiday season at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Dolan, who hosted a champagne brunch at their home on Fiesta Way.

Another sparkling party was the traditional Sunday-before-Christmas champagne breakfast given by Dr. and Mrs. John B. Squires.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley DeWolf were hosts around the eggnog bowl December 27th at their bayfront apartment on Yacht Club Blvd.

The Lauderdale Yacht Club's annual formal Christmas party introduced new members, who were presented to flag officers.

A real gala was the opening of the new Coral Ridge Yacht Club, which was completed in time for a bang-up New Year's Eve celebration.

The ebullient Eugenia Bankhead and Mrs. Louisa Carpenter opened their stunning home on New River in October, returned to their Rock Hall, Md., estate for Thanksgiving, back here for Christmas. Their string of race horses rested at the Maryland farm between the Atlantic City and Florida seasons, and are expected to run at Hialeah.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Drexel Duke, sans six children (all are in boarding school in the East this year) opened their home in Pompano Beach in November. They spent the Summer at Three-Mile Harbor, their estate in East Hampton, L. I., where Tony Duke gives his personal attention to every one of the 70 boys from the tenements of New York who attend his famed Boys'

Brig. General and Mrs. Edward Alexander have taken a home in Riviera Isles for the season. They spent the Christmas holidays in New York with Gloria Alexander's mother, Mrs. Margaret Emerson.

For eight or nine years the Lauderdale Yacht Club has been logging an annual weekend rendezvous at Ocean Reef-on-Key Largo. With Fred R. Byal in charge of arrangements, the nautical jaunt this year hit a high in

Mr. Byal and his committee-Ernie Phipps, Warren Traylor and Gordon Zellers paced the sports and party events as smoothly as sails in a smart breeze. Only in the women's dock-fishing tourney did the planning list too far to male-ward. Said the man-made rules: "Each lady must bait her own hook and remove all fish caught."

Mrs. James K. Pownall, thickly gloved for the event, snared first prize for the largest fish – a 9½-inch grunt. Mrs. Ernie Phipps was runner-up, and Mrs. Tom Shelton scored the highest total catch. Appropriately, all the fish taken were grunts.

In the deep-sea angling, Dr. Lucius W. Hipke captured first prize, while Mrs. Robert McK. Peck won an award for the only Golf titles went to Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Hardy and Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Squires.

A cocktail party in the glass-walled Low-Bridge Room of the Ocean Reef Hotel, and a steakfest, were the only non-competitive events. Shortly after dinner, most of the skippers and their mates took to their ships for a swift shift of personalities.

Blonde, svelte Mrs. Robert Cox, often voted one of Fort Lauderdale's best-dressed woman, emerged from below as a turn-of-thecentury "backwoods cousin." Her widebrimmed, coarse-straw sun hat, decked in dead center with an enormous flower, was further accented by long, tight, bow-tied pigtails and a bemused grin. Heavy red hose and Mary Jane shoes stemmed, toe inward. from a drab, voked gingham. The get-up was top kudo at the costume dance.

The Walter B. Clarkes also took an Oscar. He was all sheiked up in flowing robes and skirted turban. Mrs. Clarke, in ankle-length green satin with gold bodice and bracelets, was obviously this sheik's harem favorite.

A hula-hula prize went to Mrs. George Hall Jr. for dancing as well as garb. Architect James K. Pownall devised a disguise that mystified his closest friends . . . and netted an award. With a curly white beard, dark beret, thick-rimmed glasses, and a shirt open to the waist to display a charcoal-drawn clipper ship, Mr. Pownall achieved a captivating cross between Ernest Hemingway and the Ancient Mariner.

As always when headed for a fun-port, the Lauderdale Yacht Club fleet considered Friday the start of the week-end. Tying up at Ocean Reef that afternoon, they weighed anchor for the return cruise on Sunday, having devoted all day Saturday to the scheduled agenda.

During the week-end, some of the yachtsmen and women took sightseeing drives and walks over the 1300 acres that make up the new community of Ocean Reef on the northern tip of Key Largo, northernmost of the highway-linked isles. Eyeing the paved runway of the Ocean Reef airport, the landscaped grounds for homes about to go up, and the large community harbor, all surrounded by bay and sea to guard seclusiveness, one of the much-traveled Lauderdaleans said: "Why dash over to Europe or the Caribbean for island lure, when it's right here just a couple of hours from home port by land or by sea, and only mintes by air?"

Genuinely awed by the many choice cruising destinations from Fort Lauderdale was Allen Stapp of Los Angeles, Vice President of the Pacific Coast Region of the American Yachtsmen Association. The Californian was Dr. Traylor's guest aboard "Donna Jean IV." The host's son Bud was also aboard, but Mrs. Traylor stayed home to dog-sit with the Boxer puppy brought to her by Mr. Stapp. He's called Tux for short because his kennel name is Dinner Jacket.

ASSAU'S WINTER SOCIAL SEASON now moves into high gear following the exciting Speed Weeks contests statue of Blackbean which drew a host of celebrities to this capital of the Bahamas.

With cool precision and nerve, mild-mannered George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., drove a green Aston Martin to victory in the coveted 250-Mile Nassau Trophy Race.

The Nassau Trophy Race was the last race on the schedule for the Sixth Annual Bahamas Speed Weeks and was preceded by nine days of racing around Nassau's famed Oakes Field Course, with social gatherings nightly at Nassau's most famous meeting places.

Old friends and new acquaintances assembled at popular Blackbeard's Tavern on Saturday night, November 28th, to start off Speed Weeks officially. Jim Jeffords of Milwaukee, Wisc., driving a Scarab—one of the cars manufactured and driven by Lance Reventlow at last year's meet, his co-driver, Augie Pabst, also of Milwaukee and Pabst Blue Ribbon fame, and Mrs. Pabst, chatted with Mr. and Mrs. Stirling Moss of London and Nassau. On the patio by the formidable statue of Blackbeard, were Mr. and Mrs. David Lane of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Mr. Jimmy Orr of Kentfield, Calif.

Suave man about town Roy Thompson hosted the racing group at his typically-native Dirty Dicks' on Sunday night. Talk at this gathering centered around the Nassau Tourist Race, held that afternoon for Grand Touring cars and won by Johnny Cuevas of Miami, Florida, who set a new track record in his Team Camoradi Porsche. Mr. Cuevas was the envy of the crowd when he appeared in his fire-engine red, Chinese brocade jacket.

Daytime activities for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were devoted to engine tuneups, practice sessions, swimming, shopping and enjoying Nassau's many charms while the round of social activities filled the evening hours.

Monday night found the carefree racers and their friends at the waterfront Junkanoo Club, which had just opened after two months of extensive renovation.

Present were the vivacious Lady Greta

Oakes with her handsome husband, Sir Sidney, who is President of the Bahamas Automobile Club, and Captain and Mrs. Sherman F. "Red" Crise; Captain Crise is Chairman of the Racing Competition Committee. At a ringside table was Ralph G. Martin of Beckenham, Kent, Motor Racing Manager of the World for Shell International, and George Waltman of Great Neck, L. I., who drove a sturdy little Fiat Abarth in the racing events. Enjoying the congenial atmosphere were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramirez de Arellano of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Mr. and Mrs. David Ash of West Nyack, N. Y. Mr. Ramirez de Arellano is owner of the Aston Martin driven by Stirling Moss, and Mr. Ash, former MG Factory racing team captain, is the Aston Martin distributor in New York City.

Tuesday evening was "Welcome to Nassau" night with cocktails and dancing at that yachtman's paradise, the Pilot House Club. Held on the poolside patio, the racing atmosphere was accentuated by live turtles each named after a racing driver, swimming in the attractively lighted pool. Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury Moore of Hampstead, N. Y., displayed their talent for dancing the calypso, while Mr. and Mrs. Louis Comito of Centerport, N. Y., discussed racing pointers with Ian Allen of Nassau. Husband and wife driving team, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe of Pedro, only 19, placed third in the Governor's Trophy Race on Friday, December 4th.

Thursday evening found the drivers at the exclusive Coral Harbour Club on the southern shore of New Providence Island, which opened unofficially to entertain the speedsters and their friends. On hand to greet the guests were Mr. Lindsey Hopkins, co-owner of the Club, and Mr. William Tonetti, Vice President and General Manager of the Club. Jack Brabham of Australia, who arrived in Nassau that afternoon for the remtinder of the racing schedule and who later went on to become the world champion sports car driver a week after at Sebring, Florida, was seen chatting with Roy Salvadori of Tolworth, England, and Dean Belamont, competition secretary of the Royal Automobile Club in London. Sports car fans,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ingalles Jr., of Birmingham, Ala. (he is Chairman of the Ingalles Shipbuilding Corporation in Birmingham) enjoyed chatting with Dudley Smolen of New Orleans, La., and getting some first hand information on the art of handling a sports car.

Hosts for the remaining few nights before the glittering Motor Ball were the Montagu Beach Hotel, Emerald Hotel and the British Colonial.

Mr. and Mrs. David Darrin of Roseland, N. J., joined the convivial crowd attending the Ball (Mrs. Darrin looked very striking in a Chinese silk sheath. Indeed, her entire tasteful wardrobe for Speed Weeks was one of the highlights of conversation nightly). Lady Greta Oakes, looking very delightful in a floor length, red satin sheath, assisted His Excellency the Governor, Sir Raynor Arthur, K.C.M.G., C.V.O., during the presentation of the trophies to the lucky winners. Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Walker Jr., of Syosset, N. Y. (Mr. Walker owns the Aston Martin driven to victory by George Constantine) joined Mr. and Mrs. Stirling Moss at their table, while Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schecter of Miami, Florida, were nearby.

At a table for four were Miss Heather Bethell, daughter of the Hon. G. A. (Peter) Bethell, M.H.A., of Nassau, Mr. Krov Menuhin, son of Yehudi Menuhin, Miss Joan Stephenson, a houseguest of Miss Bethell's from Newark, Dela., and Mr. Dudley Smolen of New Orleans, La.

In Nassau, on his yacht "Gannet" to cheer on his Roosevelt team of Fiat Abarth racing cars, was Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., of Washington, D. C. Mr. Roosevelt was a guest at the stately British Colonial Hotel during his visit.

All in all Speed Week sparked the beginning of what promises to be the gayest social season in Nassau history.

7) Tashington's Early Season led off with a parade of international visitors reading like a World's Who's Who. White House and Embassy functions saluted celebrities all the way from Khrushchev of Russia to His Imperial Highness Crown Prince Asfa Wossen of Ethiopia. Crown Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands made a one-day visit to the Capital to be the luncheon guest of President and Mrs. Eisenhower; the President of Guinea and Mme. Sekou Toure were state visitors; Italian Prime Minister and Mme. Segni came for a three-day official visit; Morocco's Prime Minister Mouley Abdullah Ibrahim was a White House caller: Britain's Admiral of the Fleet and the Countess Mountbatten were guests at a private Eisenhower dinner, His Royal Highness Prince Naim of Afghanistan was a guest of his Embassy; and Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth, niece of the King of Denmark, was an unpublicized visitor to Washington friends.

One of the most brilliant of the White House dinners for Fall visitors honored the President of Mexico and Senora de Lopez Mateos. Elegant gowns and dazzling jewels of the ladies vied with the sartorial splendor of the gentlemen's white tie attire with decorations. President Eisenhower wore the gold band of the decoration of the Aztec Eagle awarded him by Mexico. Mrs. Eisenhower had matched her luxurious Scassi gown of deep scarlet printed in rich-toned pink roses to the Whote House floral decorations and she topped it with diamond necklace and earrings. Dark-haired Senora de Lopez Mateos chose glamorous pearl-encrusted white satin with diamond and pearl jewels.

Hundreds of lush red carnations adorned the State Dining Room where a hundred guests sat at the big U-shaped table and dined on chilled melon prosciuto, horseradish soup, glet of sole parmesan, roasted stuffed Long Island duckling with wild rice and apple sauce, tossed green salad, nesselrode pudding with brandied marron sauce and petits fours.

The Marine Band in red-coated uniform played during the dinner hour and following dinner the National Symphony Orchestra was heard in concert in the East Room.

Among those enjoying the glittering evening was the pretty Lopez Mateos daughter Eva, in white lace. Ranking U.S. guests were Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren, Secretary of State and Mrs. Herter, U.N. Ambassador and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, Treasury Secretary and Mrs. Anderson, Attorney General and Mrs. Rogers, Postmaster General and Mrs. Summerfield, Commerce Secretary Mueller, Labor Secretary and Mrs. Mitchell and HEW Secretary and Mrs. Flemming.

Congressional guests included Senator and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson. NASA's T. Keith Glennan and Mrs. Glennan attended, OAS Secretary General and Senora Jose Naro, Mexican Ambassador to the OAS Vincent Sanchez Gavito, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico and Mrs. Robert Hill, Assistant State Secretary and Mrs. Roy Rubottom, International Monetary Fund President and Mrs. Per Jacobsson, U.S. Chief of Protocol and Mrs. Wiley Buchanan and two former U.S. Ambassadors to Cuba, Earl E. T. Smith and Arthur Gardner and their wives.

The state visit of the Mexican First Family included another dazzling dinner at the Mexican Embassy hosted by President and Senora de Lopez Mateos for the Eisenhowers. The two Chief Executives exchanged gifts of paintings - for Mr. Eisenhower, a scene of Mexico's famous volcano Popocatepetl for Senor Lopez Mateos, a view of Mt. Eisenhower in Canada inscribed "Painted by Dwight D. Eisenhower." Following the dinner Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Carillo Flores received 1500 guests at a white-tie reception honoring their President and First Lady. A large diplomatic contingent attended as well as such prominent members of Washington society as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, Mrs. M. Simmons, the Alex Sakells, and many more.

JORDAN'S Ambassador and Mme. Haikal were reception hosts to their Foreign Minister Musa Nasir, who had just assumed his post and was in this country heading Jordan's U.N. Delegation. His pretty dark-eyed wife Mme. Nasir stood with him and the Haikals in the embassy drawing room to meet many members of Washington's Arab community, diplomatic corps and government officials. The Afghanistan Ambassador and Mme. Maiwandal, Iran's Ambassador and Mme. Ardalan, Turkish Ambassador and Mme. Urguplu, Saudi Arabian envoy Al-Khayyal, Sudan's envoy El-Hadary, Ceylon's Sir Senerat and Lady Gunewardene and the President's pastor, the Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, were among those meeting the visitors. A special guest was Mr. Rajonohan Ghandi, grandson of the great Hindu spiritual leader.

Austria's Foreign Minister, Dr. Bruno Kreisky, was a Capital visitor and was feted by Ambassador and Mme. Wilfred Platzer at a reception at their River Road Embassy.

Delegates to the International Antarctica Conference were entertained widely during their several weeks' sessions. At the large embassy reception given by Norwegian Ambassador and Mme. Koht, famous explorers were popular guests, America's Finne Ronne and Carl Eklind, Belgium's Baron Gaston de made news this season with a headline romance rumor that pervaded the Capital like wildfire, she wrote a volume on her life history and she gave her usual parade of sparkling parties.

For weeks the top topic of the cocktail circuit was whether the former lady diplomat would re-enter the diplomatic ranks via marriage to a handsome, gallant Latin ambassa-dor. After weeks of "no's" to queries, the fabulous Perle hied off to parts unknown to start her book and bury the rumors.

Perle's parties included a dinner dance on a fancy, appropriately-named yacht "The Diplomat" sailing down the Potomac with her usual quota of celebrity guests. The Senate's famous investigator John McClellan and his pretty wife Norma were aboard, French Ambassador Herve Alphand, U.S. Protocol Chief and Mrs. Wiley Buchanan and world-known statesman, Gen. Carlos Romulo and Mme. Romulo. Perle went to bat for the Equal Rights Amendment and invited the entire U.S. Senate to a buffet supper in the gardens of historic old Alva Belmont House. Speaker Sam Rayburn ral-lied around along with such stalwarts as Senator Karl Mundt with wife Mary, Senator "Scoop" Jackson, Alaska's Sen. and Mrs. Ernest Gruening, Rep. Katherine St. George and Rep. and Mrs. Carroll Kearns.

Perle saluted the 21 Latin American ambassadors with a buffet dinner dance that drew the whole South-of-the-Border diplomatic corps headed by the Dean, Nicaragua's Sevilla-Sacasa, and his lovely Senora along with Presidential Advisor for Latin affairs Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the State Department's Expert on the Latins Asst. Secretary Roy Rubottom and his wife, Foreign Relations Chairman Senator William Fulbright with wife Betty and OAS Secretary General and Senora de Mora. Latin American neighbor Stanley Marcus even came from Texas!

Changing pace, the noted party-giver asked VIP Washingtonians to meet VIP actress Shirley Booth at a late gay, supper party at Perle's French home "Les Ormes." Music, inevitably an ingredient of all Mesta parties, was furnished by Sidney and inspired a memorable dancing debut by Perle and Shirley to "St. Louis Blues." Near and far guests, enjoying the fun, ran the gamut from Australian Foreign Minister Richard Casey to Embassy Row's Sheikh Al-Khayyal of Saudi Arabia, with Manhattan contributing Elsa Maxwell, another rather well-known hostess; social headliner Mrs. William Rhinelander Stewart and playwright Speed Lampkin.

Up next? Watch for a real Mesta spectacular with the launching of her new tome "Call Me Perle."

Luncheon calendars were starred for Lady Munro's Sulgrave Club celebration of her new membership in that fashionable organization and Mr. and Mrs. Jamshed Vesugar's Sunday brunch to welcome former Senator and Mrs. Claude Pepper of Coral Gables, Florida, and Washington.

Coming in for attention was popular orchestra leader Skitch Henderson down from New York for the evening and ANTA's dedicated Mary Stuart French.

THE JOUETT SHOUSES were hosts to noted violinist Yehudi Menuhin and his attractive wife at the Corcoran Gallery following a brilliant Menuhin performance with the National Symphony Orchestra whose Conductor and Mrs. Howard Mitchell also were honor guests. The elegant company enjoyed a champagne supper in the Gallery's big atrium with Sidney's music providing background. Such notables were among guests as Architect Edward Stone, who is planning the National Cultural Center. His pretty, petite and brunette wife was with him. The First Lady of Nicaragua, Senora de Samoza, accompanied by her brother-in-law, the Diplomatic Dean, Nicaraguan Ambassador Sevilla-Sacasa and her sister, Senora de Sevilla-Sacasa. Also from Embassy Row came the German Ambassador and Mme. Grewe, Chile's Envoy and Senora de Muller, Belgian Envoy and Mme. Scheyven, Luxembourg Ambassador and Mme. A record 101 entries participated in the "Gala Event" planned for the occasion.

Mr. Richard C. Heather, who originated the tournament 11 years ago and who has presided each year as Chairman of the Putting Committee, noted that the largest number of contestants heretofore was the record 84 set last year.

When the tournament first started in 1949, there were eleven contestants.

Ceremonies began December 10th when Mr. Edward Bartlett Jr., President of the Club, cut the white ribbon in dedication of the new Putting Green, and won the following five-hole competition. Mr. Elmer Rich was runner-up.

Mrs. Charles Long won in the special competition for former members of the Putting Committee with a 38. Mrs. C. M. Langham was runner-up with 39. Mrs. Hu Woodward, also competing in the event, made a 40.

Mr. J. B. Milligan was the man winner of the lucky number contest, and Mrs. L. M. Sears, the woman winner.

Mrs. Howard Knight and Mr. James Hollingsworth triumphed in the "hole-in-one" contest.

In the women's division of the 18-hole handicap, Mrs. Hu Woodward, who shot a 39, won in a playoff with Mrs. C. H. Bliss, also with 39. Woman low gross was Mrs. Herbert Mulford with 38. Mrs. Bliss was runner-up.

Mr. William Brend was winner in the 18-hole handicap with 36. Dr. Harold Corya, who also shot 36, was low gross. Mr. Herbert Farrell Jr. was runner-up with a 37.

In the 18-hole no handicap competition for previous non-winners, Mrs. John Winn and Mrs. A. W. Boettcher tied with a 38. After a playoff, Mrs. Boettcher was proclaimed winner, and Mrs. Winn, runner-up. Mrs. McAlpin Bell came in second runner-up with a 39.

Col. Joseph W. Walton was winner in the 18-hole no handicap event with 37. Mr. John Prizer's 38 made him first runner-up. Second was Mr. W. Armstrong with 40, Mrs. E. B. Van Vorhees was high score winner with a 52.

Mr. Harry Hoyt took the guest low score trophy with a 34.

Trophies were presented by Mrs. R. C. Heather, wife of the Chairman of the Putting Committee.

Serving with Mr. Heather on the Committee were: Mr. John F. Winn, Vice-Chairman, Mrs. Earl Ross, Mr. George H. Boutet, Mr. J. Herbert Muller, Mr. J. W. B. Milligan, Mr. W. S. Kopmeier, and Mr. J. B. Wallace.

Jack Ross, Club Professional, officiated with Mr. Heather.

Mrs. V. C. Smith and Mr. H. D. Wynn shot the 12th cup in their allotted 52 strokes December 11th to win the mixed foursome tombstone tournament at the Everglades Course.

Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ward whose ball was 3 feet from the 12th cup in 50 strokes.

Mrs. F. S. Dickinson donated prizes for the day's event.

Thirty-two teams participated. Following are the number of strokes allotted and the distance reached:

Quackenbush Jr. 86, Mrs. G. K. Morgan 89, Mrs. C. S. Walsh 91, Mrs. F. C. Dittrich 103, and Mrs. V. C. Smith, Mrs. W. J. Reese, Mrs. T. T. Pace Jr., Mrs. G. S. Case, Mrs. William Klopman, no cards.

Captain and Mrs. R. C. Hyatt scored 77 to win the featured 18-hole handicap for the Redfield Trophy December 17th in the weekly putting tournament at the Everglades Club.

Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Broome with 78.

Mrs. H. S. Brown, the former Mrs. Redfield, was unable to present the trophy to the winners. In her absence, Mrs. R. C. Heather, wife of the Chairman of the Putting Committee, made the awards.

In the 18-hole handicap for Members and Guests, Mrs. Charles Long putted 36 to win in the women's division, and Dr. S. J. Brinton, 37, to win in the men's.

Mrs. Ruth Howell, who shot 39, was declared woman runner-up after Mrs. H. C. Daniels and Mrs. R. Bondurant, both with 39s, defaulted.

Low gross in the 18-hole handicap was also a tie: Mrs. Ruth Howell, Mrs. Charles Long, and Mr. William Brend all shot 36. Mr. Brend triumphed in the playoff.

Mrs. Hu Woodward and Mr. Paul Cushman teamed to win the weekly tombstone mixed foursomes tournament at the Everglades Club December 18th. The pair came within five feet of the 12th cup with their allotted 55 strokes.

Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. D. Doherty who were seven feet from the 12th in 48 strokes.

Prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. William Klopman.

Thirty-six teams participated in the competition. Following are the number of strokes allotted and the distances reached: Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Pace Jr., 50, nine yards from 12th; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bartlett Jr., 56, 21 yards from 12th; Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Mooney, 50, 135 yards from 12th; Mr. and Mrs. John Cushman, 51, 242 yards from 12th; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Adair, 53, 273 yards from 12th. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hauptfuhrer, 54 in the 11th; Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Stevens, 54 in the 11th; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dittrich, 58 in the 11th; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. LaFete Des Roses took place in the Grand Ballroom of the sparkling Plaza Hotel, which along with the Waldorf Astoria is still the place to have an event. For the benefit of the Boys Clubs of New York, it was helped a great deal by the special concert given earlier that evening at Carnegie Hall when 118th opening of the Philharmonic Orchestra became an event not to be missed. Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy divided diverstissement honors with the versatile Boy's Club Choir which warbled everything from hymns to hits from "Gypsy." Appropriately this gala traditionally features an accent on youth, and young society was out in force. Moving to Emil Coleman's lively rhythms we spotted Stanley Rumbough Jr., and his lovely movie actress bride Dina Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGrath of Panama; British beauty Linda Metcalfe with Aly Khan; David Bartlett cha-chaing with Mary Maude McKim, Peggy Bancroft dancing with her husband Tommy, the Bill Huttons, Emmit and Gloria Whitlock and the Augustus Paynes II.

Col. Serge Obolensky's new supper club at the Hotel Drake, The Mon-Plaisir, is as dashing and daring as the well-known hotel impresario himself. The new restaurant which opened with Hungarian decor, a French name, a Cuban orchestra, and an international cuisine brought out the best in New York's Society. Among the firstnighters were Elsa Maxwell, who has taken up residence in the Hotel Drake, Aly Khan, Lord Hardwicke, the Duke of Bedford dancing with Countess de Rosiere, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munn of Palm Beach with Mrs. Jessie Donahue, the M. Dorland Doyles and Prince Mito Djordjadze, Count VaVa Adlerberg with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel III, Mrs. Lytle Hull, with artist Alajalov, Lord and Lady Londonderry, Cecil Beaton, this same space many society shindigs in New York have come and gone.

The Fall season brought out the best among the party-goers and it was launched at the Mediterranean Terrace Garden at the Savoy Hilton with the special Roman Ball for the Benefit of the Boys Town of Italy. Designer Tom Lees conception created a distinctly intimate feeling despite the rooms large size. Flowers and fruit added a note of Autumn to the festivities while Gunnar Hansen and The Tommy Purcell Orchestra's played well into the morning. Among those showing off their splendor were Anita Vanderbilt, her co-chairman Conrad Hilton, Honorary Chairman Marchese Ruggero Farace de Villaforesta. Also Princess Anna Maria del Drago, Marchesa Lilli Gerini, the Michael Graces, Hope Hampton, Peter Howard, Ileana Bulova, Barbara Rockefeller, Veronica Kusmin, Patrick O'Higgins, Dorothy Strelsin, John Roberts, the Princesses Mimi and Mieta Niscemi, John Uzielli and Wendy Vanderbilt.

It is impossible in such a short space to go into all the things that happened at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera's 75th season. Soon to give way to the march of progress when the famed old opera house is torn down to be moved up town, the great stars nevertheless came in droves to be seen and, as time permitted, to see the opera of the evening. Great ladies of society swept to and fro and we spotted the bejewelled Marchioness of Londonderry with John Walker; Mrs. Edward F. Hutton wearing a slim flowing dress made from a gold and white sari with a white mink jacket; Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham in a cream colored satin sheath from her own salon collection, and of course, Mrs. Rudolph Bing wife of the Met's General Manager. Among the others in attendance were Sir Pierson and Lady Dixon, Mrs. Tommy Hitchcock, with her daughter

Anita Colby, Hedda Hopper, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Sr., Margaret Case, Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., Miss Beth Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Copley Thaw, Mr. and Mrs. Serge Semenko, Mr. Henry Tiarks, Mr. and Mrs. Igor Cassini, Mr. and Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, Miss Mary Maude McKim, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gimbel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garrett, Mrs. Gary Cooper, Nina Foch, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Baroness Lorna von Ronacher and Mme. Simone de Reyssi.

The Grand Ballroom of the Astor Hotel was the scene of a United Nations Social general assembly at the colorful United Nations Ball. The Honorary Chairmen were, of course, President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Governor and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Mayor and Mrs. Robert F. Wagner. While Mrs. Brandon Reid acted as Chairman of the Ball the Honorable Howard Coleman and the Honorable Angier Biddle Duke served as co-chairmen of the dinner committee and Bill Zeckendorf Ir., was chairman of the arrangements committee. It was an extremely colorful affair with almost every country in the United Nations represented. Meyer Davis and his Orchestra donated their services for the evening. Costumes ranged from plain black tie to the colorful Indian saris and native folk garb from the 81 member countries of the United Nations. Almost every international politician and his family were there as the official representatives of their particular countries. Among the more distinguished guests we spotted: His Excellency Henry Cabot Lodge, Their Excellencies Sir Pierson Dixon of the United Kingdom, Seyfullah Esin of Turkey, Dr. Vasco V. Garin of Portugal, and the Prince Aly Khan of Pakistan.

Vicomte Paul de Rosiere, Mr. Bruce A. Gimbel, Mr. Donald M. Kendall, Mr. Orin Lehman, Mr. Douglas Leigh, Admiral Harold B. Miller, Col. Serge Obolensky, Mr. F. W. Richmond, Mr. Stanley M. Rumbough

Jr., Mr. Jarvis J. Slade, and Mr. Thomas G. Wyman.

Miss Elsa Maxwell was chairman of the Hospitality Committee with Mrs. Mortimer Rodgers and Mrs. William Zeckendorf Jr., serving as co-chairmen. Members of the committee were Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, Mrs. David L. Guyer, Mrs. Jacob K. Javits, Mrs. Preston H. Long, Mrs. Edmund C. Lynch, Mrs. Joseph L. Segimont, Mrs. Eustace Seligman, Mrs. Jarvis J. Slade and Mrs. George S. Zauderer.

Mrs. Anthony Del Balso and Mrs. Willis were co-chairmen of the Gifts Committee which included Mrs. Norman Armour Jr., Mrs. Geraldine Beattie, Mrs. Ernest Byfield Jr, Mrs. Fletcher Godfrey, Mrs. Sherlock Hackley, Mrs. Alcuin W. Lehman, Mrs. Edward C. Lord III, Mrs. William Miesegaes, Mrs. Grace Pope, Mrs. John A. Roosevelt, Mrs. Kenneth H. Sheldon, and Miss Rise Stevens. Mrs. John F. Ball is chairman of the Junior Committee, which includes Mrs. Crowell Baker, Mrs. William Bancroft, Mrs. John Birkelund, Miss Cynthia Booth, Miss Evan Burger, Mrs. Frederic Cushing, Mrs. Don Durgin, Mrs. Brooks Firestone, Mrs. Peter Fleming, Mrs. Charles Mott, Miss Julie Otter, Mrs. John Scott, Mrs. J. Archibald van Buren, and Mrs. C. Langhorn Washburn.

A few weeks later the Astor was also the scene of the Bal Militaire which benefited the Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen's club. The Grand Ballroom had been re-decorated in red, white and blue, certainly fitting colors for this military type event. The red table covers centered with toy drums and candelabra were in keeping with the flavor of the evening which had the pleasant warmth of a private party. Those who earned 21 gun salutes by taking full tables at the affair were: Mrs. John Brice, Mrs. William Woodward Sr., Mrs. O'Connell Tansill, Mrs. Chester LaRoche, Mrs. Walter Gubelmann, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Snell, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bradley, Mrs. Harry Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brisson, Miss Gloria Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fell, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Guest, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Perlman, Duke and Duchess Pini di San Miniato, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Melhado, Miss Rosalind LaRoche, Mr. Donald Tansill Jr., Mrs. Horace Dodge, Mrs. Ulanda Saylor, and Captain and Mrs. David Pat-a private cocktail party while Mrs. Gubelmann, Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. Woodward entertained at private parties in their homes.

The opening at the Plaza's Persian Room of Miss Diahann Carroll was one of the most distinguished. Diahann's sophisticated audience brought first-nighters, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan III and Metropolitan Opera's Patrice Munsel with her husband, Bob Schuler. Philip van Rensselaer, who just finished his first book, danced with Eleanor Searle Whitney and Beatrice Ammidon and Mark Miller enjoyed chatting during the dinner prior to the show.

Up to now the annual Light House Gala had been a modest dinner dance, but this year it expanded into a full scale ball at the Waldorf-Astoria with some 800 charity minded members of local society assembled to aid the New York Association for the Blind. The Grand Ballroom, always being re-decorated, this time appeared under a canopy of red and white streamers with warm pink colored tables grouped inside the ballroom proper. On each table was a tiny lighthouse, symbol of the association. Joseph L. Eckhouse and the Mmes. George F. Baker Sr., Donald Stralem and Edgar Leonard deserved a bow for a well done task. Mr. Richard Cowell showed up, with Irmita Arango, the Panamanian President's niece. Elsewhere we spotted Arnold Toynbee, the George Richards (she's Helen Menken), lovely Fifi Fell chatting with Sam Morse of Californin's Pebble Beach, Angier Biddle Duke dancing with his lovely wife to the music of Meyer Davis, William and Mary Yuber, who just returned from a Bahama boneymoon with their tans in full bloom; Phillip Isles, and the ever chic Margaret Case.

One of the most colorful of all was the affair staged by Baron Theo von Roth, the Grand Opera Ball for the benefit of the Boys and Girls Towns of Italy at the Sheraton East Grand Ballroom. The Ball was set at the Palazzo in Milano during a private performance of the Opera. The decor created a background of imposing luxury in the real Grand Opera colors: deep red, purple and gold. Plumes offset the table decorations while beautiful antique candelabras and standing mirrors added to the fin de siecle atmosphere.

A Grand Opera Box supplanted the usual dais for the guests of honor. Ten famous operas were portrayed in a colorful pageant of arias while Jimmy Lanin's Orchestra provided continuous music for dancing. Lovely tiaras were presented to the ladies and medallions to the gentlemen, making the affair even more colorful than the decorations of the Ballroom.

The ball was held under the patronage of His Excellency and Madame Egidio Ortona and the Honorable and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge. The excellent master of ceremonies who described the entire series of events was Mr. Mario Braggiotti. Making merry and cyeing each other's tiaras and medallions were: General and Mrs. Mark Clark, Governor and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Senator Stuart Symington, the Honorable and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, Mrs. John Davis Lodge, The Honorable and Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, Marchese Ruggero Farace di Villaforesta, Mr. Rudolph Bing, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Enjoying the Christmas holidays at The Breakers were Mr. and Mrs. John E. Carlin and daughter, Miss Mary Sue Carlin, of Cleveland, Ohio. The Carlin's have spent the holidays at The Breakers for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Erbes of Chicago have returned to The Breakers again this season and are seen here enjoying the orchestra of Ralph Stuart playing for cocktails and dancing.

HE BREAKERS—long the mecca of many prominent personages of this country, had its formal opening December 19th under the direction of Mr. Frank Regan, here for his second season as manager.

Under Mr. Regan's direction during last Summer the famed hotel, first opened in 1926, was refurbished and redecorated and today presents a charming livability while retaining the famed atmosphere that has graced the hotel through the years.

The Breakers years ago had the first Cottage Colony facing the ocean. This continues over the years as a favorite resort residence of many distinguished seasonal guests: Mrs. Thomas L. Appleget of Providence, R. I.; Mr. Wolcott Blair of New York City; Mr. Maxwell Brace of Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. Philamon Dickinson of Philadelphia; Mrs. Eben H. Ellison of Newton, Mass.; Mr. Edwin A. Fish of New York City; Mr. William T. Grant of Greenwich, Conn.; Mr. George M. Gregory of New York City; Mrs. A. Atwater Kent of Newton Square, Pa.; Mr. Michael O'Leary of St. James, L. I., N. and Mr. Cornelius Shields of New York City.

Assembled here on December 28th and 29th were father and son golf teams from many sections of the United States. The tournament, truly national in scope, was the first of several scheduled for the season. It was the Seventh Annual Palm Beach Father and Son Golf Championship at The Breakers Golf Club.

Among the many recognizable names were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Babcock of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. Marshall Barton of Wilmington, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Carlin and Miss Mary Sue Carlin of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carringer of Short Hills, N. laughter of some 600 voices still echoing throughout Palm Beach, the Junior Welfare League is writing into it's Club history the story of another successful holiday ball.

The event this year was held at The Breaker's Hotel, December 19th — the eleventh annual sponsored by the organization — a social highlight presented as a benefit for a Junior Museum and Nature Center to be built for the youngsters of all Palm Beach County.

Named the Museum Ball, the event was staged under the direction of Mrs. James Branch and Mrs. J. Stockton Bryan Jr., both of Palm Beach, who served as the League's co-chairmen for the organization's main social event of the season — a dancing party which ushered in the holiday spirit for this resort city.

A successful benefit, the Museum Ball marked the second time in the past two years, that proceeds from the event have been marked for what has been termed one of the community's most needed institutions — a Junior Museum and Nature Center for youngsters.

The Junior Welfare League, which in the past has sponsored many worthy projects in the Palm Beaches, more than a year ago won the approval of its members to spearhead a project destined to be one of the largest ever undertaken in the Palm Beaches and surely the largest ever to offer a challenge to the League members.

The invitational Museum Ball, according to the chairmen, will result in more than $2,000 for the Museum project which is now in the hands of a Museum Board of trustees, headed by Mrs. Frank E. Taylor and the Museum Guild of the Palm Beaches, with Mrs. Henry Lilienthal as its president.

One of the highlights of the Museum Ball was presentation of the honored guests, all members of the trustees group. Among those introduced by James Downey, Master of Ceremonies for the Ball were Mr. J. Y. Arnold Sr., Mr. B. D. Cole, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Judge James R. Knott, Mrs. Lilien-

Also introduced were a number of the League's provisional members who have spent many of their first hours in League work closely associated with the Museum project. This group included Mrs. George Lainhart, Mrs. Gavin Letts, Mrs. Adrian R. VanVoast, Mrs. I. B. Lees, Mrs. James Winters and Mrs. Frederick C. Prior.

Much of the credit for success of the Museum Ball, Mrs. Branch said, goes to members of her various committees which included Mrs. E. A. Swindle, Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. James Sturrock Jr., Mrs. Gleason Stambaugh Jr., Mrs. Norman Ehinger, Mrs. Enrico Caruso, Mrs. F. O. Dickinson and Mrs. M. P. Anthony.

Another highlight was introduction of the Museum mascot — a top-hatted alligator made by the children from the Palm Beach Playground — a mascot which has been named in a county-wide contest for all youngsters. The alligator, after making a number of holiday visits to various social gatherings has now turned his attention to a $130,000 fund campaign being carried out by a special committee from the Museum

Guild and Board of Trustees, a drive which will furnish funds for start of construction on the Nature Center in Drehr Park, West Palm Beach, one of Palm Beach County's newest recreational and cultural centers.

The Museum fund campaign which gets underway January 14th, has won support of a great number of Palm Beach residents who are giving their time as volunteers to aid in the concerted effort being made to raise needed building fund.

Serving as leaders for the campaign are Dr. Ludd Spivey, general chairman with Charles H. Warwic III, and Marshall Criser serving as co-chairmen. Other campaign leaders include Dr. Robert Sarbacher and Mr. Harry Selitt who are heading up the special gifts division and Mr. George Patterson, who is treasurer of the campaign.

Here to help with the campaign is Mr. John Ripley Forbes, New York, founder of Nature Centers for Young America, Inc., which has given national endorsement to the Junior Museum planned here and is backing its official sponsorship with a contribution of funds for the project.

When the Junior Welfare League first launched the Museum project, its decision to undertake the venture came after long study in which the group decided the museum for school age children came within its policy to sponsor such civic undertakings through the early stages and then turn the leadership over to other interested persons.

In this instance it was a corporation chartered a year ago and known as the Junior Museum of Palm Beach County, a charter signed in circuit court by Judge Knott, president of the Palm Beach County Historical Society and a museum trustee.

Principal objective of the board of trustees is to enlarge the educational opportunities for the children of Palm Beach County. Through the Junior Museum and Nature Center, the board plans to present an active program to supplement the youngsters regular school program with classes on astronautics, atomic energy, astromony, botony, zoology, Florida history, and archeology.

The museum will house classrooms, exhibition areas, live animal exhibit and a well equipped planetarium for the study of astronomy.

Sarasota

By MARIAN MURRAY

MCH YEAR, Sarasota seems to grow more social-minded, and the calendar becomes more crowded. Nowadays, the city is astonishingly different from the simple little village that drowsed here on Florida's west coast not much more than a decade ago.

The recent holidays have been even livelier than might have been foreseen — what with hundreds of persons caught up in preparations for the Debutantes Ball, held in the Municipal Auditorium December 28th when twenty young women made their bows.

This fourth annual presentation was in the hands of the committee that initiated the presentation of debutantes here: Mrs. Wharton G. Ingram, Mrs. Ernest Sears, Mrs. George C. Collins and Mrs. Clyde H. Wilson. Incidentally, those sponsors were asked to lend advice and assistance to a group in Clearwater, which on December 29th presided over the introduction of twenty-four debutantes in the Clearwater Auditorium.

Beginning a week before Christmas, parties for Sarasota debutantes ranged from the casual to the extremely formal.

Miss Sandra Hancock and Miss Sandra Wilbanks were guests of honor at a luncheon December 19th at the Colony Beach Club given by Mrs. Francis Millican. Later in the day, Miss Margaret Ann Dart was honored at a cook-out at Wilson Lake, for which Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Evans Jr., were hosts.

Mrs. Andrew Sandegren gave a reception at her home December 20th for Miss Dart, following a brunch by Mrs. Charles W. Mead for her daughter, Miss Marsha Mead.

For Miss Marjorie Sprague and Miss Wilbanks, Mrs. R. Don Harris and Mrs. Anthony Iorii gave a luncheon on December 21st. That afternoon, Miss Mead and Miss Katharine Palm were guests of honor at a tea given by Mrs. L. W. Hornung. In the evening, Mrs. Woodra Walter Crane and her daughter, Miss Margaret Cecilia Phares, took over the Lido Biltmore for a dance in honor of Miss Victoria Ann Bonnyman.

December 22nd was a lively day. Miss Sharon Fay Beery was honored by a luncheon at the Field Club, with Mrs. Bertrand Baker, Mrs. William Hohman and Mrs. George Meyers as hostesses. Mrs. Frederic W. Dennis gave a tea for Miss Barry Walden. All the debutantes were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Collins Scott at a dinner dance at the Lido Biltmore.

Mrs. Sandegren entertained at coffee on December 23rd for Miss Marcia Ricker, and Mrs. James Bonnyman received guests to meet her daughter. Miss Dart, Miss Hancock, Miss Wilbanks, Miss Pauline Curry and Miss Martha-Ann Roebuck were honored at a dance that evening, given by their parents at Sarasota Bay Country Club.

Mrs. Willard Olsen and Mrs. W. Calvin Pettey gave a luncheon on December 24th at the Yacht Club for Miss Wilbanks. At the Lido Biltmore that evening, Miss Sprague and Miss Karin Kirsch were guests of honor at a dance given by their parents.

Parties burst forth again the day after Christmas, with a coffee by members of the Debutante Club. Miss Ricker and Miss Sandra Marden were guests of honor at a reception that afternoon by Mrs. Ingram and her daughter, Miss Merrell Ingram. In the evening, parents of Miss Beery, Miss Patricia Kornblum, Miss Beverly Prince and Miss Deanna Weimer gave a costume ball for them at Sarasota Bay Country Club.

A supper party aboard a charter boat was given for the debutantes and their escorts on December 27th by Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Kimball and Mrs. Valla Elam Walker, with Miss Mead and Miss Bonnyman as guests of benefit

Mrs. Donald Halverson and Mrs. Fred W. Johnston were hostesses at a luncheon on December 29th at the Yacht Club for Miss Palm and Miss Prince. A beach party for Miss Curry was given that evening by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Morgan.

Also at the Yacht Club — a luncheon on December 30th given by Mrs. Byron Wolfe for Miss Kirsch. That evening, the Lido Biltmore was scene of a dance given by their parents for Miss Bonnie Belloc, Miss Ann McDowell, Miss Palm and Miss Ricker.

Mrs. John Moody McNair and Mrs. Joseph Power Ashby entertained for Miss Martha Anne McNair at luncheon at Whispering Sands on December 31st. All the debutantes and their escorts were guests at the annual Holiday Dance given New Year's Eve by the Bachelors of Sarasota at the Colony Beach Club.

Miss Dart was guest of honor for the last two parties before the girls went back to their studies. On January 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Lindsay and Miss Carmen Lindsay gave an eggnog party. On January 2nd, her aunt, Mrs. John Dart, with Mrs. Sidney Perry Jr., entertained for her at luncheon at the Field Club.

The Cotillion, which owes its existence to the debutantes' sponsors, continues to grow, thrive and wax always more popular. The Senior Cotillion started out with a dance December 26th at the Lido Biltmore; the Junior, with one December 29th in the Municipal Auditorium.

One of the most important weddings of the season was that of Miss Alene Martha Weldon, who on December 5th became Mrs. Edwin Everett Rice Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Blanke Weldon of Sarasota, and Joseph Weldon of New York City. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Rice of Sarasota, and Hamilton, Ohio.

In a church decorated with palms, candelabra and baskets of gladioli and pompoms, the Rev. J. Moody McNair married the couple in a double-ring ceremony. Miss Merrell Ingram, one of last season's debutantes, was maid of honor; Miss Gail Rice and Miss Elise Benedict were bridesmaids; Jack Rice, brother of the bridegroom, was best man; Don Cossaart Jr., and Timothy Weldon were ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Weldon, wore an afternoon gown of Alencon lace over taffeta, and a veil of illusion banded in matching lace, attached to a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white phalaenopsis.

As one of the first big events of the Fall, the Succulent Society held a very successful Garden Mart on November 14th in the experimental garden it has developed on an acre of land. Mrs. William M. Parker is President of the group, which was formed in 1950 with eight members, and now consists of some seventy-five. Thousands of cacti and other succulents have been planted on the land, bought in 1954, and a few other landscape features have been added, to make a garden of great beauty and originality.

Mrs. C. T. Quarles was general Chairman of the Garden Mart, assisted by Mrs. Raymond M. Oakes and a large group.

The Women's Auxiliary to Sarasota Memorial Hospital became exceedingly active early in the season. In mid-November, it gave a benefit dance at the Bucaneer Inn. Immediately thereafter, members began to make preparations for the annual "Silver Fashion" style show, to be given in the Ringling Museum's Asolo Theater on January 18th. Mrs. David Graue, models; Mrs. E. L. Kornblum, tickets; Mrs. Harry S. oris, hostesses; Mrs. Ralph Caples and Mrs. John F. Burket, tea tables; Mrs. Harry O. Leuschner, ushers; Mrs. Helene M. Morris, publicity.

Society turned out in force on the evening of December 11th for a dinner-dance — "A Night in Istanbul" — given by the Sarasota Art Association at the Lido Biltmore. Proceeds from the dinner, attended by more than Prior-Leahy, reservations; Mrs. T. Vernon Finch, decorations; Mrs. John J. Hamel Jr., menu; Mrs. John Lewis Murray, publicity; William Scher and Herbert C. Stoddard, entertainment.

Local artists are busily at work, as always. On the evening of November 22nd Stella Coler and Jane Ziegler held a reception to introduce an exhibition of their work at the studio just taken over by the Hartman School on South Palm Avenue. In the Jacksonville Art Museum's first regional painting competition, Syd Solomon took second prize for a polymer-tempera canvas, "Tidepool"; and Jane Gross won a $50 award with a casein, "Wind." At the Sarasota Art Association, exhibitions follow one another in lively succession, with "Religion in Art" opening January 17th. Each show is initiated by a formal opening for members and guests.

The Florida West Coast Symphony Orchestra opened its season on December 18th, when Carmen Lindsay, soprano, was featured artist. On February 6th, Ted Bawden, pianist, will appear with the orchestra. For the third concert, March 19th Robert Bloom, oboist, will be featured in the Handel Concerto for Oboe and Strings. Alexander Bloch, who has carried the orchestra along to its present enviable status, is director. One of the projects of the very active Symphony Women's Assoviation is the Junior Symphony, organized this year for musicians less than 21 years old. The junior group's first concert is being given this month.

The Field Club has had a full schedule during the holidays, with a good deal of emphasis on activities for members' youngsters. In addition to club-sponsored dinners, card parties and so on, individuals have entertained a great deal at the edge-of-the-bay club house. Holiday activities culminated in a New Year's Eve dinner-dance, followed by a New Year's Day open house.

The Sarasota Garden Club again is sponsoring the Pauline Trigere Fashion Show, being given on January 15th in the Municipal Auditorium. This is the first public showing of the designer's 1960 collection.

Mrs. H. Clay Gardenshire is General

Mrs. H. Clay Gardenshire is General Chairman, and Gilbert Waters is again show director. Proceeds from tickets will be used toward financing the new Garden Center, which has just been completed as one of the group of buildings at the Civic Center.

During the next few months, the Sarasota Art Association will present its program of Special Events in the Garden Center, under the chairmanship of Sophie Johnstone, sculptor. Dates for the events are: January 14th and 28th; February 11th and 25th; March 10th and 27th; April 7th and 21st. Each program will be presented by one of the city's art schools.

Art World Becomes Alive with Exhibits been inaugurated at the Worth Avenue Gallery this season, and give promise of being a popular innovation at Mrs. Duggett Benson's gathering spot for both the art and the socially minded.

First of these late Sunday afternoon affairs was an immediately post New Year's party of January 3rd when Janet Folsom and Patrick Arthur joined in presenting the first dual art show of the season, an exhibition that closes the end of this week.

On January 17th, Paul Crosthwaite of Palm Beach and Nantucket, and Dudley Huppler of New York will share honors at a cocktail party in their honor, though Mr. Huppler will be in absentia. Their joint show opens for a two weeks showing Monday morning.

Though their work presents interesting contrast in the Gallery, where it has attracted much favorable interest, Mrs. Folsom and Mr. Archer have as common denominators the fact that they are both art instructors and both are rising artists on the Palm Beach scene. Widely divergent in styles, the works of the two blend happily in producing an over-all pleasing effect.

A Bostonian by birth, Mrs. Folsom combines an early New England background with study abroad at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in France and also in Mexico. Under the training of Alexander Iacovleft she became interested in portraiture, specializing in children, but more recently has turned from the limitations of portrait likenesses to a wider scope and most of her canvases today express the artist's feeling for the spirit of childhood in semi-abstract fashion.

Though her line may be semi-abstract,

Mrs. Folsom's color sense veers more to the Expressionist and Impressionist, and much of the richness and luminosity of her paintings are lost in black and white reproductions, such as those of her "Frightened Bird" and "Mother and Child" from this show.

Mrs. Folsom's approach and advance techniques now serve the double purpose of being applied to her own work and in her teaching at the Norton School of Art.

There is a modern directness about the work of young Mr. Archer, art instructor at Graham-Eckes School. Varied aspects of both the abstract and semi-representational styles he has evolved during the two or three years he has been exhibiting here are to be noted in this show.

The artist had the distinction of winning two local water color prizes in 1958, the first award in the Palm Beach Art League Exhibition, and the second at the Society of the Four Arts. Of the latter, "Landscape No. 2," which is included in this current show, a reviewer said: "A very pleasing, competent forest scene in semi-representational manner."

Of the "Fantastic Garden" at the Art League exhibition, which won for him a one man show at the Norton Gallery last season, it was said: "A most effective composition, using round and fluid forms and executed in rose instead of the expected underwater tones, a happy choice."

Mr. Archer's "Prehistoric Aspect," shown here is in abstract style, his "Citadel," a semi-abstract in rhythmic lines.

Since 1956 he has shown also at the Pensacola Art Association, the Silvermine Guild, and the Gallery at Fort Lauderdale. He has exhibited in Boston, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco also.

The Crosthwaite-Huppler exhibition opening with next Sunday's preview will re-introduce the work of two artists already well-known at Worth Avenue Gallery.

Since coming here four years ago, Mr. Crosthwaite has shown each year in Gallery group shows. In December 1956, a few weeks after his arrival here, he won an award at the Society of the Four Arts with "Portals of the Past," described as "a stunning composition . . . precisionist in style, imaginative, with fine use of color."

This line is highly descriptive of Mr. Crosthwaite's romantic realistic style, one that is reflected in much of his work to be shown in this new comprehensive showing. The artist's great interests are to be found in still life and landscapes, interpreted in a Neo-Romantic manner.

"Tower of Knowledge" reproduced here, is an excellent example of his still lifes. A stack of books is shown, not inside, but against a background of clouds, and a puckish touch is added by the inscription in one volume "Ex Libris Paul Crosthwaite Worth Avenue Gallery."

"And the Birds Were Fed" is a study of St. Francis of Assisi, not in a peaceful garden, but along an ocean shore feeding a variety of gulls, pelicans and other sea birds.

Mr. Crosthwaite came to painting via an indirect route during which time he studied architecture, ran a book shop and served in

"Prehistoric Aspect"
(PATRICK ARCHER)

Now working on a Huntington Hartford fellowship at the Hartford Foundation near Los Angeles, Mr. Huppler is making his second showing at the Worth Avenue Gallery. Two years ago, his collection of "Animal Friends," proved an engagingly attractive opening exhibition at the Christmas season there.

Once again his exquisite workmanship that suggests Pointillism with pen and ink, his sense of style and elfin humor are expected to captivate the public. They will provide a contrast to the more serious Crosthwaite paintings.

Deceptively simplex appearing, the Huppler drawings, with their spare use of wash color effects, are fine work of art with imaginative appeal. Typical of his style are such works as "Captured Moon," with trees veiling the moon, and "First Born," a study of monkeys.

Virtually self-taught in art, Mr. Huppler deserted a teaching career at the age of 26 to devote his time to art. He has had shows at Chicago Art Institute and in New York, spent two years in Italy, and is represented in many important collections.

LITHOUGH comparatively new in this country, Greyhound Racing — the Sport of Queens — dates back to the days of Cleopatra.

No other sport in the United States has risen in popularity to such a sensational degree as Greyhound Racing and the picturesque Palm Beach Kennel Club — where the 29th annual season extends through April 18th — has played an important part in this meteoric rise.

In a setting of tropical splendor, the nightly racing at the Winter Home of Champions presents an unforgettable scene. Located West on Belevedere Road in West Palm Beach, the Palm Beach Kennel Club has such features as timing of the races to 1-100 of a second, the Australian Totalisator, electric odds board and closed circuit television.

It is in the beautiful glass-enclosed Clubhouse where Palm Beach society spends its evenings. The clubhouse has for years been a popular rendezvous of society leaders and world-famous figures in finance, art and sports time for the first race is 8:15 and the greyhounds always run, rain or clear. Acres of free parking are provided and there's a special enclosed parking area for Clubhouse patrons.

John E. Boggiano, President of the track, believes that the current meet will establish new marks for both attendance and mutuel handle.

More than 600 of the world's fastest greyhounds representing 26 kennels have been booked for the 1960 season. Four new kennels this season are those of John Prevatt, Carl Pritchard, Lewis Randall and Kenneth OORS OF THE FORT LAUDERDALE ART CENTER opened in the Fall of 1958 at 625 East Las Olas Boulevard. Last year more than 11,000 visitors viewed the exhibits.

Started under the aegis of the Junior League, the Center will eventually become a community project. Its varied exhibition schedule is aimed at showing what is being done in contemporary art throughout the world as well as the best of earlier periods. It encourages local artists with an annual exhibition which awards generous prizes.

This year's exhibits opened November fifth with British Empire painters and works of Robert Helsmoortel, whose paintings and drawings were sent under the patronage of Monsieur Consul General of Belgium.

Schubert E. Jonas, director, has planned an interesting agenda, which includes a lecture series and showings of outstanding foreign films. The season extends through May.

The Center's first fund-raising event was a gay Promenade de Paris, which turned East Las Olas Boulevard into a French boulevard the evening of November 27th. A 40-foot Eiffel tower, sidewalk cafes, landscaped prom-enades, game booths and street dancing to the music of Preacher Rollo's band lent a carnival atmosphere. Even a replica of the River Seine flowed down the center of the boulevard, fed by a lighted fountain.

Festivities included a show by 40 Can Can girls, a sidewalk art show arranged by Edythe McCowan of Schramm Galleries, fashion shows, and a superb ballet number by the Leonard Bouchers.

Before the promenade several hundred patrons of the Art Center attended a champagne buffet at the Lauderdale Beach Hotel.

Willis F. Woods, director of the Norton Gallery and School of Art in West Palm Beach, opened the lecture series earlier in November.

Looked-forward-to social events are the preview parties for members, who view exhibits the evening before they are open to the public.

Mrs. William B. Young, publicity director of the Junior League, and Mrs. Randolph Fisher, the League's membership Chairman for the Art Center, look over the bulletin, a monthly schedule of events mailed to members from November through May.

Second on the exhibition schedule is a showing by ten modern American masters and the work of young artist, William Farrington, winner of last Spring's Hortt Memorial show. Farrington, who lived in Fort Lauderdale last year, is now teaching at Cooper Union in New York.

The New Year will be launched with the Hallmark Show and photography by Jacques Wolfe. From February 9th to 29th exhibits will feature Japanese prints, the etchings and prints of Hartwell Priest, paintings by Fort Lauderdale artist, Arthur Voelkel, and seri-graphs by Philip Hicken.

Fine paintings from private collections from Palm Beach to Miami will star the March show (March 3-25), along with textile hangings by Mariska Karasz. Among the collectors' choice will be works by Picasso, Braque, Matisse, Max Weber, Signac, Renoir and Herillo

From April fifth to 28th the second annual Hortt Memorial Show will display the talents of local artists.

Winding up the season in May will be the Children's Exhibition, a riot of color and design by youngsters who attend the Children's Art Classes at the Center. Twenty lessons are offered there on Saturday mornings from November seventh through April ninth. Students are from the first grade through junior high, divided into three classes.

Previewers at the Fort Lauderdale Art Center's opening exhibit are Miss Alberta Amartin, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thompson.

Dr. and Mrs. Diran Seropian and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wendell view a painting at the Fort Lauderdale Art Center's preview party.

Caribbean Horn of Plenty

By MARGUERITE ALLEN

The Casa Montego, designed by New York architect William Ballard, is the newest hotel in Montego Bay, and decorated in contemporary styling as well as architecture. The hotel dominates the shoreline as it looks out over Doctor's Cave Beach.

HE CARIBBEAN this season is a veritable Horn of Plenty — a golden combine of resorts and islands, small and large, where the odds of finding Winter resort life as you personally like it are distinctly in your favor.

JAMAICA

"This men is the most beautiful island in the world," an adventurous skipper named Christopher Columbus reportedly told his crew when he came upon Jamaica while sailing the ocean blue in 1494.

Columbus had not seen, at that time, all the islands of the Caribbean, or even in the world, but he unquestionably was prophetic. There is little doubt that any other island can offer as much variety of scenery, literally giftwrapped for the Winter resorter — great expanses of towering mountains, secluded white beaches, a heavenly Winter climate, luxury resorts which cater to the discriminating traveler who wants to relax casually and have his or her luxury too. This then is your Jamaica in 1960.

One hundred and sixty mile-long Jamaica is dotted with myriads of resort areas from Constant Springs to Port Antonio, from Ocho

Rios to Montego Bay, but it is the latter which remains the perennial favorite with international island-droppers.

This year the limelight is focused on the Royal Caribbean in Montego Bay which opened for its third season with a gala ball on December 15th. New cottage-type units were added this Summer, and many guest rooms were air-conditioned for those who like it. The indoor cocktail lounge and dining area were enlarged, and open onto the always popular outdoor dining and dancing patio, the most divine spot for dancing under the stars every night.

In fact, the Royal Caribbean is the one resort in Montego Bay which features nightly dancing and top-drawer entertainment. Also, now if you have a yen to make a night of it, a small intime night spot, the "After Ours Club," has been opened off the cocktail lounge.

The Royal Caribbean was built by and is owned by U.S. industrialists, Mr. George Poag of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Mr. Lawrence Paul of Coral Gables, Florida. This season a new jewel has been added to its royal crown. It will be operated by Treadway Inns International, Ltd., a counterpart of its U.S. namesake, created for the purpose of bringing even more distinguished dining to the hotels of the Caribbean.

Sunset Lodge, the very first of the Montego Bay resorts to attract the sun-fun set under the aegis of the island's great charmer, Mrs. Carmen Pringle, has spent an eventful Summer too. The beautiful dancing and dining patio, the gathering place for social notables has been re-styled and made even more delightful — an impossibility come true an a la carte menu of great distinction has been inaugurated. The guest rooms have been redecorated, the bar and cocktail lounge are exquisite, and sun-worshipers will be pleased with the enlarged beachfront.

Round Hill, Half Moon, Bay Roc and the mellow Casa Blanca continue to head the list of the smart resorts. The rambling, Casa Blanca also has had a face-lifting, and all of its rooms have been air-conditioned and redecorated. There never will be anything quite as enchanting as their suites which overlook the sea. If you prefer to go real modern, you'll be attracted to the many-storied Casa Montego, directly opposite the Casa Blanca and overlooking Doctor's Cave Beach.

Golf is the popular sport at Estate Carlton, which can boast the only nine-hole golf course in the Virgin Islands. There are also two swimming pools, one at Carlton's cresent-shaped beach by the sea, and the other beside the Great House.

This aerial view shows the location of the new Grapetree Bay Hotel on the island of St. Croix in the Virgin Islands. Built at a cost of $2,500,000 it was opened December 1st, 1959 to become the largest hotel on the Island. It consists of one main unit, Sea Grape Terrace, and 105 luxurious bedrooms in 35 guest villas on a 300-acre estate stretching for a mile along the sea. It is situated seven miles from Christiansted, capital of St. Croix, on the easternmost tip of the island, which coincidentally is the easternmost top of U. S. soil.

PUERTO RICO

Something old — something new — something green instead of blue — is Puerto Rico, another island of great mountain beauty.

Here you'll be intrigued by Old San Juan, presently undergoing a resoration that will make it the old-time Sutton Place of New York City — preserving the Spanish flavor of the island, while skyscraper hotels rise in new San Juan to accommodate the visitor who wants modern American luxury along with the old world atmosphere.

An interesting combination of a resort that retains an air of the intimate — not too large — and delightfully decorated is the La Rada Hotel in the Condado Beach section of San Juan. Owned by San Juan's noted decorator, Mr. Jose Alegria, it is renowned for its excellent dining room and beautiful location overlooking the lagoon, which provides waterskiing enthusiasts with untold pleasure.

The incomparable Sunset Lodge, the social rendezvous of Montego Bay itself, is happily isolated on its own estate yet convenient to town.

Mr. George W. Collier of Coral Gables, Florida, and Mrs. B. Weal of New York City, at cocktail time on the patio in Montego Bay's Sunset Lodge.

ST. CROIX

There are two resorts on this island which fulfill the requirements for the Palm Beach Life reader. One is new this year, the Grapetree Bay Hotel, which made its debut on December first as St. Croix's challenge to Round Hill.

Estate Carlton, now going into its fourth season, was designed for the country-club set, and has successfully fulfilled its destiny.

This engaging resort has the mellow charm of St. Croix, particularly evidenced in its architecture, reminiscent of the days when Denmark ruled the island until it was purchased by the U.S. government in 1917. A sprawling 325-acre estate, social life at Carlton centers around the main building and old sugar mill. A new swimming pool and cabanas have been completed this year nearby the only a short time at San Juan for discharging passengers. This, service is additional to the fine new airport which opens on the island in January, and will make air travel to St. Croix an easy convenience.

GRAND CAYMAN

main building and hotel cottage units, which in turn have been completely redecorated.

The new swimming pool is Carlton's second pool. There is another pool by its own private beach, about five minutes drive from the hotel, with station wagon service to and fro over a new hard-top road.

A country-club type resort in every sense of the word, Estate Carlton has the only golf course on the island of St. Croix — a very excellent nine-hole course with starting and finishing tees right at the main club-house. Estate living is an integral part of life at Estate Carlton, and many resorters from all over the United States have built homes on the property — to date, some 24 to be specific.

This year Pan American World Airways has inaugurated a non-stop service to St. Croix from New York twice a week, in addition to three through flights weekly, stopping La Rada in San Juan, Puerto Rico, is a small, intimate type of hotel, the perfect spot for headquarters on this enchanted island.

There's skin diving and goggling by the exotic off-shore reefs, and endless stretches of white sand beach for sun-lazing and reefprotected swimming. Deep-sea fishing is also popular, and cruisers can be charted at nearby Georgetown Harbor, and native villages where friendly faces wait to greet you.

LESSER ANTILLES

Not yet so well known, yet with infinite charm these islands, Saint Maarten, Saba, St. Kitts, Guadeloupe, Martinique, Dominca, as well as Antigua, are the sirens in Windward Islands of the Lesser Antilles. A Dutch, French, and British heritage, respectively, makes each one a gen in its own right, where accommodations vary from luxurious clubtype resorts such as the Mill Reef Club on Antigua to more simple yet excellent fare on the other islands. All you need is a somewhat adventuresome spirit, and these islands will bring their own reward.

The Great House at Estate Carlton is set in a grove of tamarind trees, and on the site of the original plantation house, in similar Danish architecture. Estate Carlton, now a club-type resort, was originally the largest sugar producing plantation on the island of St. Croix in the Virgin Island.

to get away from it all, and yet hibernate in the lap of luxury.

British-born socialites, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Greenall have built one of the most delightful resorts in the entire Caribbean on Grand Cayman — The Galleon Beach Hotel.

Grand Cayman — The Galleon Beach Hotel.

The Galleon Beach Hotel is everything you could ask for — and more too. It's the real thing, where telephones and pressures seem distant and vague, as indeed they are, and yet you'll find the utmost in modern accommodations of luxurious simplicity, as well as a fine French cuisine.

THE PALM BEACH

Biltmore

Yes, Night and Day, Palm Beach at its gayest is . . . The Palm Beach Biltmore. And why not . . . when you consider the Biltmore's extraordinary facilities: 2 Cabana Clubs (including the fabulous "Sun-and-Surf"), 2 swimming pools, acres of private beach,

2 Tennis Clubs, sheltered yacht dockage, 4 fine restaurants with a lavish cuisine in each, garage and parking facilities and easy access to Golf, Jai Alai, Racing, Polo and the Shopping and Amusement areas for which Palm Beach is renowned.
